INDIA bloc leaders sound poll bugle at Patna rally

Rahul said Centre is working for only two-three super-rich people

PATNA, 3 MARCH

Opposition bloc INDIA virtually sounded the bugle for the upcoming Lok Sabha polls on Sunday when top leaders, including Rahul Gandhi of the Congress, converged in the Bihar capital for a mammoth rally.

Former Congress president made a brief, about 15-minute-long, speech and charged the Narendra Modi government at the Centre with "working for only two-three super-rich people and neglecting Dalits and backward classes who comprise 73 per cent of the population".

AICC President, Mallikarjun Kharge, after whom the 'Jan Vishwas Maha Rally' was signed off by RJD President Lalu Prasad, lambasted Bihar Chief Minister Nitish Kumar for his recent volteface. Kumar played a key role in the formation of the INDIA bloc, though after returning to the NDA, he has been claiming that he was never happy with the way things moved forward in the Opposition coalition and that even the acronym did not have his approval.

The most caustic attacks on Kumar, however, came from Lalu Prasad, his arch-rival, who signed off his speech in style, asking the crowds to "be prepared for the upcoming elections. I will be there to boost your morale as you vote to drive out Prime Minister Narendra Modi from power at the Centre".

Known for pulling no punches, the RJD supremo said, "What can we do if Narendra Modi does not have a family of his own? He keeps bragging about the Ram temple. He is not even a true Hindu. In Hindu tradition, a son must get his head and beard shaved upon the demise of his parent. Modi did not do so when his mother died."

Also present at the rally was MV Shreyams Kumar, former Rajya Sabha member and RJD's Kerala unit Chief, who had flown down from the southern state.

Those who addressed the rally earlier included Samajwadi Party President and former Uttar Pradesh Chief Minister Akhilesh Yadav, who said, "UP and Bihar together have 120 seats. If we ensure the BJP's rout in these two states, the party will not be able to form the government at the Centre."

Left leaders like Sitaram Yechury, D Raja and Dipankar Bhattacharya, general secretaries of CPI(M), CPI and CPI(ML) respectively, denounced the Narendra Modi government's policies, alleging these were only benefiting big businesses, even as they praised Tejashwi Yadav's emphasis on job creation. —PTI

NEW DELHI, 3 MAR

The Indian Navy will commission on Wednesday in Kochi its newly-inducted MH 60R Seahawk multi-role choppers that it said would mark a "pivotal moment" in India's defence modernisation journey.

The commissioning of the helicopters in the INAS 334 squadron is expected to significantly enhance the Navy's operational capability in the Indian Ocean region which has been witnessing increasing Chinese military forays.

The US-manufactured MH 60R Seahawk is a maritime variant of the Blackhawk helicopter. The helicopter is designed for anti-submarine warfare, anti-surface warfare, search and rescue and medical evacuation among other operations.

"The advanced weapons, sensors and avionics suite make the Seahawks ideal for the Indian Navy's maritime security needs, offering enhanced capabilities for both conventional as well as asymmetric threats," the Navy said on Sunday. The Seahawks squadron will be commissioned in the Indian Navy as INAS 334.

India signed an agreement with the US for procurement of 24-MH 60Rs in February 2020 under the framework of foreign military sales. "The Seahawk's deployment in the Indian Ocean Region would strengthen the Indian Navy's maritime presence, dissuading potential threats and ensuring a secure and safe environment in this strategically crucial region," the Navy said.

"The commissioning of the Seahawks underscores the Indian Navy's steadfast dedication to fortifying maritime security, aligning seamlessly with the Government of India's visionary goal of ensuring security and growth for all in the region," it said.

The Navy said induction of the choppers is set to witness a significant surge in its maritime prowess. "The helicopter has been rigorously tested in Indian Reference Atmosphere (IRA) conditions and is fully integrated into the fleet," it said in a statement.

"The MH 60R helicopter would enhance India's blue-water capabilities, extending the operational reach of the Navy and supporting sustained naval operations across spectrums and over vast maritime domains," it said. —PTI

Shivakumar said, "Karkala MLA and former BJP minister lauded the guarantee schemes saying it was making the lives of people better. Some other MLAs like Araga Jnanedra have criticised the scheme."

While noting the Chikkamagaluru water development project under the Bhadra irrigation project, the Deputy Chief Minister said, "1.5 TMC of water has been allocated for them and Kadur taluks. A total of 244 tanks will receive water supply at an estimated cost of Rs 1,281 crores. BENGALURU BOMB BLAST

BENGALURU, 3 MARCH

Deputy Chief Minister DK Shivakumar hit-out at BJP, accusing them of tarnishing Karnataka's image for their own political interests. Addressing reporters at his residence in Sadashivanagar on Sunday, Shivakumar said, "The government is committed to safeguarding Bengaluru's reputation in the wake of Rameshwaram cafe blast."

Shivakumar noted that the police are actively investigating the blast case, and the government is fully supportive of their efforts. He reassured that all possible angles are being explored to identify the perpetrators and bring them to justice.

On Saturday leader of Opposition R Ashoka said, "It is fine if they don't make Brand Bengaluru but they should not make Bomb Bengaluru."He attacked Home Minister G Parameshwara and Shivakumar for calling the blast a business rivalry. "Despite senior police officials saying it is a terrorist attack, ministers are not ready to accept that this is as a terror attack. They are creating different stories about business enmity," he said. He said every time there are terror attacks in the state, Congress stays quiet.

The policy of Congress is to attack the majority, said Ashoka. "Shouting slogans of Pakistan Zindabad in Vidhana Soudha is unforgivable. All the terrorists in Karnataka have become tigers under Congress rule. They have a mindset that Congress will not do anything," said Ashoka. Speaking at a press conference, after inaugurating "Sankalpa Abhiyana" Ashoka questioned the recent blast at Rameshwaram Cafe in Bengaluru. "How many more bomb blasts are needed for this government to wake up? Why is this government turning a blind eye? Who is being wooed? Is there pressure from Sonia Gandhi and Rahul Gandhi on the government?" he questioned. He also asked to release the not forensic report about the Pakistan zindabad slogans incident raised inside Vidhana Soudha.

Reacting to this, Shivakumar said, "BJP lacks sensitivity and such statements are irresponsible from individuals in positions of responsibility."

He added that BJP is exploiting the opportunity to gain political mileage. "They may have forgotten things that happened during their term. I don't want to do politics over that, but they should introspect. At times like these, they should be aware of the nation's unity, integrity and peace." he said.

All angles will be probed, says HM

BENGALURU, 3 MARCH

Home Minister Dr G Parameshwara on Sunday said business rivalry, impending elections and terrorising investors coming to Bengaluru given a stable government in the state are some of the angles which the police are working on crack relating to the blast at a City eatery.

According to him, eight teams are working to crack the case and they are accompanied by the National Investigation Agency, National Security Group (NSG) and Intelligence Bureau (IB) assisting the teams.

The explosion took place at Rameshwaram Cafe in Brookfield in East Bengaluru on Friday. A man wearing a cap, mask and glasses is the prime suspect in the case and is still untraceable, Parameshwara said one of the angles being probed was to see if it was to terrorise Bengaluru given the impending elections. "Elections are approaching. If any organisation is behind it, or if there are some other motives behind it to terrorise people to make Bengaluru look unsafe...," he added.

"As many investors are coming here in view of a stable government, this might have been done either to stop investors from coming to Bengaluru or due to some other unknown reasons," Parameshwara said.

He said business rivals might have done it out of jealousy. That is one of the angles, which is also being discussed.

The Minister appealed to people to rely only on the statements issued by him, the police and Chief Minister Siddaramaiah and not on speculative ones.

He also said it was a low-intensity bomb as the explosives used were of low intensity and even the quantity might be less.

If the quantity was more, then the intensity would have been higher, he observed.

Speaking about the suspect, the Minister said police have procured about 40 to 50 CCTV footage.

"There is information that he came by bus...26 buses passed there around that time. We went through all the 26 buses. We have found the bus in which he travelled. He was wearing a cap, mask and glasses. We are not getting clarity there as well," he said. Also, regarding the alleged sloganeering incident at the Vidhana Soudha premises, Parameshwara stated that the investigation is ongoing, awaiting the FSL report. He asserted that action would be taken against those responsible without hesitation or succumbing to any pressure.

DANIEL GEORGE
BENGALURU, 3 MARCH

A resident of Tilak Nagar in South Jayanagar the City who looked forward to undergoing the pilgrimage for Umrah and travelled there with his family on the holy pilgrimage went through a harrowing time and was detained at King Abdulaziz International Airport in Jeddah, Saudi Arabia. According to the police, his name and particulars matched with a 'wanted criminal' in a case dating back some 25 years.

Diplomatic sources at the Indian Consulate in Jeddah told Salar News that the passenger identified as Mohammed Ghouse, 57, never travelled to Saudi Arabia or any other country in his life and this was his first trip abroad that landed him in huge trouble.

Ghouse, a transporter employed here in the City along with eight of his relatives, arrived in Saudi last week. Ghouse had embarked on the holy pilgrimage through an Umrah operator based at Cubbonpet.

His nephew Mohammed Mutabbir, told Indian Diplomats that Ghouse was stopped upon arrival at the airport in Jeddah by the passport authorities. He said they took his passport and were under the impression that it was a routine procedure, and he was escorted to a separate room. The family was told that Ghouse's data had matched with that of a criminal wanted by the police.

Ghouse was handed over to the police in the Asir region whose capital headquarters Abha is 600 km away from Jeddah. The family went through nerve-racking moments at this development and did not know which door to knock on to get the head of the family out of this mess.

They approached the Indian consulate, which swung into action and a team of Indian diplomats rushed to the airport and met with the detained Umrah pilgrim. After a detailed investigation he was allowed to go and perform Umrah.

MUMBAI, 3 MARCH

BJP-led ruling alliance and the Opposition bloc are united in their belief that win ability is the only formula for seat-sharing in Maharashtra, which sends the second-highest number of 48 MPs to the Lok Sabha after 80 from Uttar Pradesh.

Maharashtra, the country's most industrialised state and its premier FDI magnet, however, has seen a political churn since 2019, with Uddhav Thackeray-led Shiv Sena breaking its long-time alliance with BJP, and then suffering a split, just like Sharad Pawar-founded Nationalist Congress Party (NCP).

A major chunk of the Shiv Sena is now with Chief Minister Eknath Shinde and it is allied with BJP. NCP also met a similar fate as Ajit Pawar walked away with a legislative majority last year and is also part of the ruling alliance.

Uddhav Thackeray-led Shiv Sena broke its long-time alliance with BJP, and then suffered a split like NCP PHOTO: PTI

The splits and realignments have made seat-sharing a herculean task with claims and counter-claims, leaders from the ruling and opposition parties said.

BJP, which along with the then undivided Shiv Sena won a cumulative 41 out of the 48 seats in 2019, is looking to better the National Democratic Alliance (NDA) tally to 45, whereas the opposition Congress will seek to put behind its disastrous 2019 outing when it won just one seat.

The seat-sharing issue is being discussed with the central leadership, Maharashtra BJP chief Chandrashekhar Bawankule said.

Opposition Maha Vikas Aghadi (MVA), comprising Thackeray-led Shiv Sena (UBT), Sharad Pawar faction of NCP and Congress, is wooing Prakash Ambedkar-led Vanchit Bahujan Aghadi, but the grandson of legendary social reformer Babasaheb Ambedkar is yet to make a formal announcement about his allegiance.

As per sources, BJP is expected to contest more than 30 seats, while Ajit Pawar-led NCP, which has sought 10 seats, is likely to get four. Shinde-led party wants to contest 18 seats, the number won by the undivided Shiv Sena in the 2019 polls.

Another senior Congress leader said there is unanimity on 30 seats between his party and the NCP (faction led by Sharad Pawar), while there are differences on five to six of the 18 seats won in 2019 by the then undivided Shiv Sena.

Dismantling Opp won't endure: Thackeray

MUMBAI, 3 MARCH

Shiv Sena (UBT) on Sunday criticised BJP, stating that its policy of undermining other political parties is not sustainable.

Aiming for BJP's initial Lok Sabha candidate list, which included figures like Kripashankar Singh, previously accused of money laundering, Shiv Sena (UBT) Chief Uddhav Thackeray expressed surprise at the exclusion of senior leaders like Nitin Gadkari from the list.

Singh, who had faced allegations of financial misconduct, was nominated to contest from Jaunpur, Uttar Pradesh, in the upcoming Lok Sabha elections, as announced by BJP on Saturday.

Thackeray, without directly naming BJP or Prime Minister Narendra Modi, remarked, "The politics of dismantling opposition parties will not endure... 'Jumla' should be renamed as 'guarantee'."

Singh's history includes leading the Mumbai unit of Congress and serving as a Minister of State for Home. He parted ways with Congress in 2019 due to disagreements regarding the party's stance on the abrogation of Jammu and Kashmir's special status by NDA government. He later joined BJP in 2021.

Responding to Thackeray's remarks, Singh dismissed them, questioning the political credibility of someone without their party.

"I don't take remarks of a person who doesn't have a political party of his own," he said.

Pressure tactics will not save govt: HP MLAs

SHIMLA, 3 MARCH

Pressure tactics such as targeting businesses of Independent MLAs and their families is a futile exercise and will not save the government, said two Independents who voted against Congress in the recent Rajya Sabha polls in Himachal Pradesh.

Speaking to PTI on Sunday, KL Thakur, Independent MLA from Nalagarh, said, "It is unfortunate that the chief minister has stooped to such a level and this kind of politics has never been seen in Himachal Pradesh."

"I have been a former BJP legislator and had been associated with the party for years. I voted as per my ideology," he said.

The Independent MLAs -- KL Thakur (Nalagarh), Hoshiyar Singh (Dehra) annd Ashish Sharma (Hamirpur), were among the nine MLAs who voted in favour of BJP candidate Harsh Mahajan in the Rajya Sabha election for the lone seat from the state on 27 August.

Congress: Agnipath scheme 'compromised' nat'l security

New Delhi, 3 March

Congress on Sunday attacked the Centre over Agnipath scheme, alleging that it has "compromised" national security and "severely disrupted" the armed forces' recruitment processes in India. Congress' attack came after party leader Rahul Gandhi had an interaction with ex-servicemen, potential Agniveer recruits, and the youth whose regular recruitment into the armed forces has been disrupted by the introduction of Agnipath during Bharat Jodo Nyay Yatra in Madhya Pradesh. Congress General Secretary in-charge communications Jairam Ramesh in a post on X said that Gandhi had a 40-minute interaction with the three communities on the morning of the 50th day of the Bharat Jodo Nyay Yatra. " Agnipath scheme has compromised national security and severely disrupted the armed forces' recruitment processes in India," he alleged. Ramesh claimed the ex-servicemen have noted that the scheme compromises national security by demoralising the armed forces and rushing through training for our servicemen in a mere six months. —PTI

Railways utterly mismanaged, only for rich: RaGa

NEW DELHI, 3 MARCH

The Congress on Sunday said no amount of "slick PR" can hide the manner in which the Indian Railways has been "utterly mismanaged" during the Modi government, with Rahul Gandhi alleging that policies for the national transporter were being framed keeping only the rich in mind.

Gandhi also claimed that the trust in Prime Minister Narendra Modi is a "guarantee of betrayal".

In a post in Hindi on X, Gandhi alleged that by showing the dream of making those wearing "hawai chappal" (slippers) travel by "hawai jahaz" (airplane), Prime Minister Modi is even distancing them from "gareebon ki sawari" (vehicle of the poor) railways.

"Amidst a 10 per cent increase in fare every year, loot in the name of dynamic fare, rising cancellation charges and expensive platform tickets, people are being lured by showing them a picture of an 'elite train' that the poor cannot even set foot on," the former Congress chief said.

The government has collected Rs 3,700 crore from senior citizens in the last three years by "snatching away" the exemptions given to them, he claimed.

Common persons' trains are made to languish to give precedence to the train selected for publicity, Gandhi alleged.

"To increase the number of AC coaches, the number of general coaches is being reduced. Not only labourers and farmers but also students and service class people travel in these (general) coaches. The production of AC coaches has also been increased to three times that of normal coaches," he alleged.

"In fact, ending the tradition of presenting the Railway Budget separately was a conspiracy to hide these exploits," Gandhi charged.

The railways' policies are being framed keeping only the rich in mind and this is a "betrayal" of 80 per cent of India's population that depends on it, he said.

In a post on X, Congress general secretary Jairam Ramesh said, "No amount of slick PR, social media posts by Ministers, and grand announcements can hide the manner in which the Indian Railways has been utterly mismanaged during the Modi regime - a decade of degradation with an anti-poor mindset."

Ramesh said five key issues have emerged - "ticket vasooli, anti-poor infrastructure priorities, lagging train speeds, callous attitude to passenger safety and deteriorating railways finances".

Explaining the issues, Ramesh said the railways reports an average price per passenger, per km.

In 2013-14, this was Rs 0.32/passenger-km and by 2021-22, this had more than doubled to Rs 0.66/passenger-km, a 107% increase, he said. —PTI

BHARAT JODO NYAY YATRA

Added 'nyay' word as injustice leads to hatred: RaGa

GWALIOR, 3 MARCH

Congress leader Rahul Gandhi on Sunday emphasised the importance of "nyay" (justice) during his ongoing yatra, attributing the rise of hatred in the nation to prevailing injustices.

Addressing a gathering in Mohana, located in Madhya Pradesh's Gwalior district, he flagged economic disparity, social inequality, and the mistreatment of farmers and youth as key concerns. BJP has been denying all such charges.

Gandhi, on a brief stopover for his 'Bharat Jodo Nyay Yatra', criticised the adverse effects of policies like the Goods and Services Tax (GST) and demonetisation, linking them to a surge in unemployment rates, which he claimed were the highest in 40 years.

" GST and note ban have fanned extreme unemployment," he claimed, adding "the unemployment rate now was the highest of the last 40 years".

Gandhi further claimed that India's youth unemployment rate was even higher than countries like Pakistan, attributing it to the impact of policies of the government which had taken a toll on small businesses.

Gandhi said while commencing his second phase of yatra he had incorporated the word "nyay" as he claimed that hatred was spreading in the country due to injustice in economic and social sectors and injustice against farmers and youth.

He also highlighted the marginalised status of 73 per cent of the population, comprising Other Backward Classes, tribals, and Dalits, stating they were excluded from governance and business opportunities.

Accusing the central government of favouritism towards industrialists over farmers, he criticised the waiver of massive loans for select industrialists while neglecting the debt relief needed by farmers.

Gandhi underscored the financial requirements of key social welfare programs like the Mahatma Gandhi National Rural Employment Guarantee Act (MGNREGA), stressing the significance of utilising funds for public welfare rather than catering to the interests of a few.

The east-to-west Manipur-Mumbai yatra is scheduled to traverse 6,700 kilometres through 15 states. It aims at highlighting the message of 'nyay' (justice) while meeting common people on the way. —PTI

Drones to be implemented to bolster maritime security

Procurement of drones is a step towards enhancing surveillance

MUMBAI, 3 MARCH

Security agencies are devising plans to implement drone surveillance systems along the coastal regions of Mumbai and Goa to bolster maritime security.

This comes in the wake of a recent incident where three individuals from Kuwait reached Gateway of India, underscoring vulnerabilities in the current coastal security setup.

The trio, Nitso Ditto 31, Vijay Vinay Anthony, 29, and J Sahayatta Anish, 29 had navigated Indian waters after absconding with a boat from their employer in Kuwait, alleging mistreatment.

Upon surrendering to the authorities, they were arrested for violating Passport (Entry into India) Rules. The officials expressed concerns that the individuals could have easily blended into the local populace undetected.

A forensic analysis of their Global Positioning System (GPS) had many missing patches, with the trio claiming they had switched off the set to save battery.

Security agencies are devising plans to implement drone surveillance systems along the coastal regions of Mumbai and Goa PHOTO: ANI

These, the officials feel, could be misused by anti-national elements and advocated for the use of drones extensively for maintaining surveillance along the country's maritime borders.

The officials said traditional maritime surveys and inspections will have to transform with the integration of Unmanned Aerial Vehicles (UAVs) as the inclusion of drones -- armed with high-resolution cameras and sensors -- would revolutionise the efficiency and cost-effectiveness of these tasks.

Recognising the need for heightened vigilance, security agencies feel that the deployment of long-range drones is a must to monitor the 652.6kms coastline in Maharashtra and the 101.0kms stretch in Goa.

Coast Guard's procurement of drones with advanced capabilities, including vertical take-off and landing features, signifies a step towards enhancing surveillance, security operations, and search-and-rescue missions.

Nevertheless, the officials emphasise the imperative for additional drones equipped with extended range and night vision capabilities to pre-empt potential threats emanating from neighbouring nations, particularly Pakistan.

The officials feel that drones with sophisticated identification and tracking capabilities could identify vessels having an Automatic Identification System (AIS) and track their movements.

India's expansive 7,516.6kms coastline spanning nine states and four Union Territories underscores the magnitude of the security challenge.

Following the 26/11 attacks, the government has undertaken various initiatives to fortify coastal defences against maritime threats.

With round-the-clock monitoring and collaboration facilitated through these JOCs, a seamless network comprising naval and Coast Guard teams, state marine police, Customs, Intelligence Bureau, and port authorities has been established, underscoring a collective commitment to safeguarding India's coastal borders against potential threats

MUMBAI, 3 MARCH

The Bombay High Court has said it cannot forget the July 2005 deluge when Mumbai was almost entirely under water and the extensive damage caused mostly due to illicit construction along the banks of the Mithi river.

A division bench of Justices Gautam Patel and Kamal Khata said public interest will not allow it to grant any wide relief to a welfare society which has filed a plea against the proposed Mithi river improvement project.

The bench on 29 February heard two petitions filed by the Ashiyana Welfare Society and Sameer Ahmed Choudhary, who claimed to be affected by the proposed infrastructure project for the improvement of the Mithi river.

The pleas sought for a restraint on demolition of the society's structures.

"Public memory may be short, but it cannot be that short that the city entirely forgets the time just a few years ago in July 2005, when it was almost entirely under water and one of the portions most severely affected was the Mithi river especially at its mouth," the High Court said.

There was extensive damage and much of this was to the illicit construction along the banks of the Mithi river, it added.

MUMBAI, 3 MARCH

Suicide due to mental trauma after a break-up does not make for a case of abetment, a court here observed while acquitting a woman accused of abetting her former boyfriend's death.

It is "morally" incorrect to change partners as per one's whims and fancies, but there is no remedy under the penal law for the person facing rejection in a relationship, the court held. Additional sessions judge NP Mehta made these observations on 29 February and acquitted Manisha Chudasama and her fiancée Rajesh Panwar who were accused of abetting the suicide of Nitin Keni.

Keni was found hanging in his house on 15 January, 2016, and was rushed to a hospital where doctors declared him dead.

"Morally, it is incorrect to switch love partner at one's whims and fancies, but if one sees from the provision of penal law, no remedy lies with the victim whose partner has switched his or her love relationship with other on her/his choice," the judge observed. The judge, in his order, said that to constitute abetment there should be active suggestion, instigation or encouragement on the part of the accused. —PTI

Kerala student's death: Cong seeks CBI probe

T'APURAM, 3 MARCH

Congress leader VD Satheesan on Sunday sought a CBI probe into the recent death of a student at Kerala Veterinary and Animal Sciences University in Wayanad.

In a letter written to Chief Minister Pinarayi Vijayan, he said that details of the brutal assault that led to the death of 20-year-old Sidharthan JS on 18 February, are emerging from the university.

"His parents are alleging that a mob led by SFI leaders held a public trial for days without giving him food or water and brutally assaulted him to death before hanging him. It's a serious matter that the teachers were also part of this brutality," Satheesan said. The leader of the Opposition in the assembly also alleged that senior CPI(M) leaders of the district had threatened the investigating officers.

Congress leader alleged that there were serious lapses in the police investigation and they (police) even attempted to protect the accused in the case.

"We cannot expect a fair investigation from the police. Such an incident should not be repeated in Kerala. The family is demanding a CBI probe. The state government should consider all the factors and hand over the case to CBI to bring out the facts and conspiracy behind the incident, Satheesan said. NEW INITIATIVE

NE youths 'shoot' for responsible tourism

GUWAHATI, 3 MARCH

'Shooting' has been Lemdumong's passion since he was a teenager, but the last couple of years saw the 24-year-old switch from the gun to the video camera to capture the beauty of wildlife and nature.

His new-found love for the audio-visual medium has taken him from his native Nagaland to the high reaches of Sikkim, seeking to help a community of yak herders sustain with the concept of responsible tourism.

He is among 30 youths mentored as part of 'Responsible Tourism Fellowships' by environment conservation organisation Green Hub and motorcycle manufacturer Royal Enfield to promote sustainable and conscious travel in the Himalayan region.

Lemdumong was part of a three-member group that worked at Chongri in the westernmost part of Sikkim, where they engaged with the local community of yak herders to develop a tourist trail focusing on sustainability and adventure.

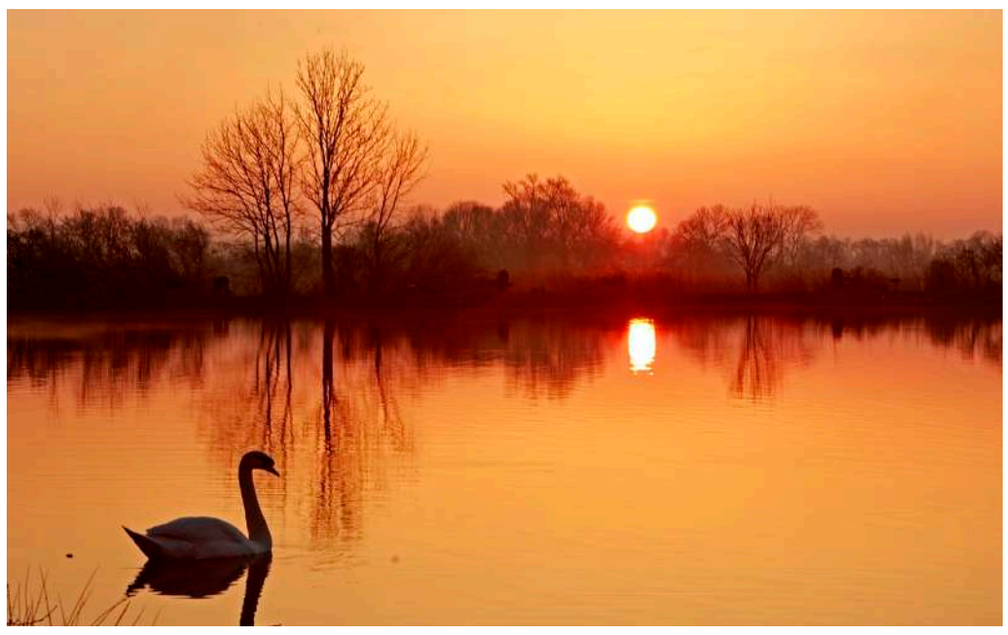

"Hunting is a way of life for most in our villages and I was involved in it from 14 years of age. It is mostly need-based for us. In 2021, my uncle Thangson became a fellow under a different programme run by Green Hub and I assisted him in filming the wildlife around our place," Lemdumong said.

"It was when I saw the pictures and videos of the birds and other animals that I looked at these with new clarity and realised the beauty in them. It was an amazing realisation and a major turning point for me," he added.

Lemdumong applied for the six-month fellowship on responsible tourism and he was among 14 fellows trained in the second batch, which commenced in September 2023, at five project sites across Arunachal Pradesh (Zemithang), Sikkim (Geyzing), Meghalaya (Hima Laitkroh) and Assam (Sonapur and Nagaon).The fellows presented their unique and hyper-local action plans to build their responsible tourism business models at a conclave here recently.

Lemdumong teamed up with Lyangsai Tikhak of Arunachal Pradesh, a college drop-out who helps out at his family farm, and Talabya Raj of Assam, a travel vlogger.

A leading environment filmmaker herself, Banerji said the medium of film-making for story-telling is used by the fellows to tell untold stories of the land, people, and generational knowledge.Bidisha Dey, executive director, of Eicher Group Foundation, CSR arm of Royal Enfield, said Responsible Tourism Fellowship was conceived to bring responsible tourism as an established practice across the Himalayas. —PTI

Indians fleeing abroad for work even in conflict zones

INCREASING UNEMPLOYMENT

Despite the country's apparent economic growth, many Indians – even those with a university degree – are struggling to secure stable employment
PHOTO: PTI

Israel plans to bring in 70,000 workers from abroad, including 10,000 from India, to boost its construction sector. A labour shortage has emerged after 80,000 Palestinian workers were barred from entering the country after the 7 October Hamas-led attacks.

Figures suggest that India is one of the fastest-growing economies in the world. Between July and September of 2023, it grew at a pace of 7.6 per cent. If it continues along this current growth trajectory, India will become the world's third-largest economy by 2027.

The fact that thousands of Indian workers are nonetheless queuing up to secure a job in a conflict zone abroad is a consequence of a jobs crisis at home. Despite the country's apparent economic growth, many Indians – even those with a university degree – are struggling to secure stable employment.

But India has a large working-age population (people between 15 and 64 years of age), so the demand for jobs is immense. India needs to create an estimated 10 million to 12 million jobs each year for the unemployed, new workforce entrants, and surplus agricultural workers to be able to secure non-farm work.

How can India provide jobs for its increasingly educated young? It needs even faster economic growth and for this growth to be labour intensive. This will, in turn, generate demand in the economy from all sections of society (not just the middle class and above).

Structural change

Between 2004 and 2014, India's economy grew at a rate of nearly 8 per cent per year (despite the global financial crisis in 2008). This rapid growth was accompanied by a hastening of structural change in employment.

During that period, the economy created on average 7.5 million new non-farm jobs every year. The number of manufacturing jobs in India rose from 53 million in 2004 to 60 million by 2012.

However, Rs 500 and Rs 1000 notes were taken out of circulation in 2016, making 86 per cent of India's currency illegal. The cash recall was intended to accelerate the country's transition towards a formal economy. But it led to acute shortages of cash, destroying jobs in the construction and manufacturing sectors.

Growth slowed to 2020 when, at the beginning of the COVID pandemic, the Indian government imposed a nationwide lockdown at four hours' notice. The lockdown caused India's gross domestic product (GDP) to contract by 5.8 per cent – more than twice the rate at which the global economy shrank.

Employment in manufacturing jobs fell again, especially in labour-intensive manufacturing where employment had already been in decline for five years following the botched implementation of demonetisation. Around 60 million workers returned to jobs in agriculture, reversing the structural change in employment that had been underway for 15 years.

But a focus on services alone will not suffice. This "New India" economy currently constitutes less than 15 per cent of the country's economy and a fraction of that in employment. Such a strategy will generate jobs mainly for highly skilled people, rather than the millions of Indian workers that are searching for non-farm jobs.

Creating jobs in India

India's investment-to-GDP ratio is still below 30 per cent, and has remained below the 31 per cent inherited by the current government when it came to power ten years ago. The potential for a twofold increase in construction employment (a trend that was observed between 2004 and 2012) over the next five years hinges on the revival of private investment.

Labour-intensive manufacturing by micro, small and medium enterprises also needs a sustained fillip. The government's focus is currently on large companies – so-called "national champions" like industrial conglomerates Tata and Mahindra – which are being encouraged through subsidies.

If these subsidies were instead redirected towards smaller enterprises, they might do more for employment generation. Large corporations typically use highly capital-intensive methods of production, whereas smaller ones tend to absorb more labour. The third area where employment can be generated is, indeed, services. Public expenditure should prioritise public health, education, vocational training and universities.These sectors are labour-intensive, contribute to the creation of public goods, and will build the human capital needed by both manufacturing and modern export-oriented services. That is the only way India's health and education services can reach the levels observed in east Asia and attract more foreign investment.A renewed focus on smaller enterprises across these sectors is needed. Inclusive growth requires providing jobs rapidly at the bottom of the pyramid, not only at the top of the wage – and skill – distribution.

Mental fatigue can lead to psychological triggers

Do you ever feel spacey, distracted and worn down toward the end of a long work-related task – especially if that task is entirely a mental one? For over a century, psychologists have been trying to determine whether mental fatigue is fundamentally similar to physical fatigue or whether it is governed by different processes.

Some researchers have argued that exerting mental effort depletes a limited supply of energy – the same way physical exertion fatigues muscles. The brain consumes energy in the form of glucose, which can run low.

Other researchers see mental fatigue as more of a psychological phenomenon. Mind-wandering means the current mental effort is not being sufficiently rewarded – or opportunities to do other, more enjoyable activities are being lost.

The research suggests mental fatigue is in large part a psychological phenomenon – but one that can be modified by setting goals.

Vigilance is hard to sustain

Psychologists in the World War II era studied why soldiers monitoring radar were losing focus during their shifts. Psychologist Norman Mackworth designed the "clock test," in which military participants were asked to watch a large "clock" on a wall for up to two hours. The second hand ticked at regular intervals. But rarely and unpredictably, it would jump twice the usual distance. The task was to detect those tiny variations.

Within the first 30 minutes, the subjects' performance dropped dramatically – and then continued to decline more gradually. Psychologists named the necessary mental focus "vigilance" – and concluded it was fundamentally limited in humans.

Decades of research since has confirmed that vigilance is difficult to maintain, even over brief intervals. In studies, people report feeling stressed and fatigued following even a brief vigilance task. In 2021, one study even showed a reduction of blood flow through the brain during vigilance.

Are all forms of mental work like vigilance? Surely, there are instances where people can engage with mental work without feeling fatigued.

Setting goals

We decided to study whether goal-setting could improve mental focus and ran three experiments to test this idea.

In the first experiment, we showed 108 undergraduate students at the University of Oregon a screen with four empty white boxes against a gray background. Every one to three seconds, an X appeared in one of the four boxes. Their task was to indicate where that symbol appeared as quickly as possible. After each response, the participant was given feedback about both their accuracy and their speed, such as "Correct! Reaction time = 400 milliseconds."Periodically during the 26-minute test, we also asked participants to rank their mental state as task-focused, distracted or mind-wandering. This gave us data about how they felt, in addition to how they did.

We randomly gave half of them a specific goal: Keep their reaction times under 400 milliseconds while staying as accurate as possible. We gave no goal to the other half.

Our results were mixed. People who were given a goal did not experience as many slow reaction times, but having goals didn't increase their top speed. It also didn't change how often people reported feeling distracted.

Setting increasingly harder goals

Randomly they were assigned a goal to half of the 112 fresh participants and no goal to the other half. But this time, as the experiment progressed, we increased the difficulty of the goal from a 450-millisecond reaction time to 400 milliseconds and then to 350 by the final block. Setting these harder-over-time goals had a huge effect on performance.

Compared with the participants assigned a set goal in the first experiment, the participants assigned increasingly more difficult goals in the second experiment had faster reaction times by an average of 45 milliseconds – about a 10 per cent improvement. Participants in the second experiment also reported fewer instances of mind-wandering and showed no slowing of reaction times throughout the experiment. In other words, they showed no signs of mental fatigue. And we didn't have to make the task easier. In fact, we made it harder.The first two experiments were conducted online because of shutdowns related to Covid-19. Our third study – a repeat of our second study – was conducted in person. We got the same results.

These findings, combined with other recent work we've conducted, have changed the way my colleagues and I consider mental fatigue. If you're wondering how to implement these findings in your life, make simple, direct and specific goals for yourself. Mark when you complete the goals – the feedback can help you keep going. If you're feeling particularly drained, take short breaks. Even brief rests of less than two minutes can restore capacity for mental work.

MethaneSAT is designed to provide an unparalleled view of methane emanating from oil and gas fields across the planet — as well as from agricultural facilities and landfills
PHOTO: LINKEDIN

Carbon dioxide usually dominates the discussion when it comes to climate change, but slashing methane emissions could have an even bigger effect on global warming over the next few decades. With the help of a satellite that is set to launch as early today from Vandenberg Space Force Base near Lompoc, California, governments and businesses will at last have a tool to help them to pinpoint methane hotspots on Earth and plug the leaks.

Scientists raise alarm over 'dangerously fast' growth in atmospheric methane Developed by a coalition of environmentalists, scientists and aerospace engineers at a cost of around USD 88 million, MethaneSAT is designed to provide an unparalleled view of methane emanating from oil and gas fields across the planet — as well as from agricultural facilities and landfills. Working with Google, MethaneSAT's operators will process data from the satellite using an atmospheric model that can track methane in the air back to its sources on the ground. They will then make the data freely available. Google also plans to use artificial-intelligence algorithms to help map oil and gas infrastructure worldwide and identify where the pollution is coming from.

MethaneSAT will enable corporate and government accountability through "radical transparency", says Steven Hamburg, Chief scientist at the Environmental Defense Fund (EDF), an advocacy group based in New York City that led the satellite's development. "This will be the first time that we have ever had this type of information for any greenhouse gas," he says.

More than 80 times as potent as CO2 at trapping heat around Earth, methane is collectively responsible for around 30 per cent of global warming since the Industrial Revolution. Methane lasts around 12 years in the atmosphere, whereas CO2 persists for centuries. This means that curbing methane emissions could have a notable cooling effect on global temperatures over the short term.

"We could basically cut warming nearly in half over the next couple of decades if we were to eliminate our methane emissions," says Ilissa Ocko, an atmospheric scientist at EDF, whose research suggests that the oil and gas sector can reduce the bulk of its emissions at little to no extra cost1, for example by replacing leaky seals or broken valves.

An audacious project

MethaneSAT has its roots in pioneering aircraft campaigns that helped to reveal the extent of pollution from US oil and gas fields roughly a decade ago. EDF subsequently worked with academics and those in industry on a series of studies that helped to document emissions across the United States, eventually showing that methane emissions from the oil and gas sector were 60 per cent higher than official estimates2. On the basis of that work, the group then organized a team to design the satellite.

In 2018, EDF and its main scientific partners at Harvard University in Cambridge, Massachusetts, were awarded start-up money through the Audacious Project, a partnership involving the New York non-profit group TED, to develop MethaneSAT. If it succeeds, EDF will be the first environmental group to develop a satellite of such scientific calibre.

What sets MethaneSAT apart is its resolution. Commercial satellites already circling Earth can track major methane sources such as leaking wells and landfills. By contrast, a sensor aboard the European satellite Sentinel-5 Precursor can scan across vast landscapes and measure methane concentrations in the atmosphere, but without pinpointing emission sources. "We're fitting into a place where nobody else is operating," says Steve Wofsy, an atmospheric scientist at Harvard University, who is leading MethaneSAT's technical team.

Having a moment

The spacecraft arrives during what many are calling a 'methane moment' for the planet. Last December, US President Joe Biden's administration finalized regulations designed to slash methane emissions from the oil and gas sector by 80 per cent by 2035. Other governments, such as those of European Union member states, are considering pollution standards for natural gas, meaning that they might impose fees on imports from producers that exceed limits on methane emissions. Industry is also stepping up with commitments: at last year's United Nations COP28 climate summit in Dubai, for instance, 50 of the world's largest oil and gas companies committed to eliminating methane emissions altogether by 2030.

"The capabilities of this satellite are phenomenal," says Róisín Commane, an atmospheric scientist at Columbia University in New York City. But she points out that MethaneSAT is limited: each day, it can transmit imagery to Earth from only around 30 swaths of land measuring 200 square kilometres each. That is enough to accomplish its core mission of monitoring global oil and gas operations, as well as some agricultural sources. She has thus proposed putting sensors similar to MethaneSAT's aboard a future NASA satellite, but with more power and a larger radio antenna. "There's an awful lot more to be done," Commane says.

For Wofsy, the big question is whether the data from MethaneSAT will actually push companies and countries to take action. Its operators hold sway over neither industry nor government, but the data showing the methane emissions will be out there in the public sphere, he says. "I hope it's going to make a difference."

Kuwait to hold parliamentary elections on 4 April

DUBAI, 3 MARCH

Kuwait said Saturday it will hold elections for its national assembly on 4 April, its latest round of voting after years of political turmoil. The state-run KUNA news agency made the announcement, citing a decree published by the oil-rich country's official gazette. In February, Kuwait's emir dissolved parliament after a lawmaker reportedly insulted the ruler. Domestic political disputes have been gripping Kuwait for years — including the overhaul of Kuwait's welfare system — which prevented the sheikhdom from taking on debt. That has left it with little in its coffers to pay bloated public sector salaries, despite generating immense wealth from its oil reserves. Parliament has been repeatedly dissolved after failing to move forward, with Kuwait's Constitutional Court in 2023 annulling a 2022 decree overturning another such annulment. —AP

Taiwan detects 21 Chinese aircraft, 6 naval vessels

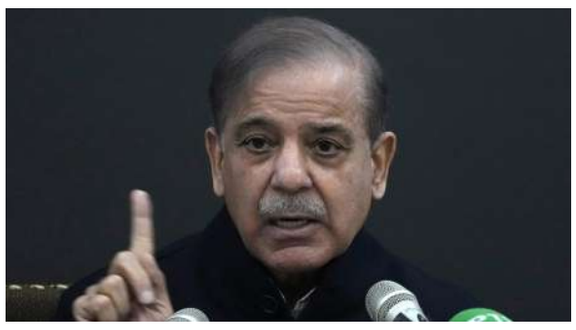

TAIPEI, 3 MARCH

Taiwan's Ministry of National Defence has said that it has detected 21 Chinese military aircraft and six naval vessels around Taiwan between 6 am (local time) on Saturday and 6 am (local time) on Sunday, Taiwan News reported. According to Taiwan's MND, among the 21 People's Liberation Army (PLA) aircraft, one Chinese drone crossed the Taiwan Strait median line and entered the southwest corner of Taiwan's air defence identification zone (ADIZ). Shehbaz Sharif becomes Pak's PM for 2nd time

Shehbaz thanks allies for putting their trust in him

ISLAMABAD, 3 MARCH

Pakistan new Prime Minister Shehbaz Shariff said Pakistan had a big challenge and opportunity before it PHOTO:PTI

Shehbaz Sharif on Sunday became the Prime Minister of Pakistan for a second time to lead a coalition government after he comfortably won a majority in the newly-elected Parliament amidst sloganeering by the Opposition.

Pakistan's newly-elected Prime Minister Shehbaz Sharif on Sunday thanked his allies in the coalition government for putting their trust in him and making him Leader of the House.

"When my Quaid (leader Nawaz) was elected the prime minister thrice, the development that followed in the country is an example of its own. And it is not wrong to say that Nawaz Sharif is the one who built Pakistan," Shehbaz said in his victory speech.

The 72-year-old PML-N President thanked his elder brother Nawaz and all the allies for putting their trust in him and making him Leader of the House. Shehbaz, who was the consensus candidate of the Pakistan Muslim League-Nawaz (PML-N) and the Pakistan Peoples Party (PPP), received 201 votes in the 336-member house.

Shehbaz's challenger Omar Ayub Khan of jailed former prime minister Imran Khan's Pakistan Tehreek-e-Insaf (PTI) secured 92 votes. "There are talented people sitting in this Parliament who can steer Pakistan's ship to the shore [...] these include journalists, intellectuals, politicians, religious leaders," he said.

Shehbaz said Pakistan had a big challenge and opportunity before it. "If we come together and decide to change the fate of Pakistan [...] then God willing, we will defeat these challenges and take Pakistan to its rightful position," he said. He highlighted that this job was difficult but not impossible.

"Back to the good old days of development! Onwards and upwards. Nawaz Ka vision, Shehbaz Ka mission," the PML-N said in a post on X along with a picture of both the leaders. "The other name of deliverance is MUHAMMAD SHEHBAZ SHARIF," it said in another post.

The session of the new parliament was convened amid ruckus and sloganeering by PTI-backed lawmakers. In his speech, Shehbaz also said that the nation would always remember the sacrifices of Zulfiqar Ali Bhutto, the founder of the Pakistan Peoples Party (PPP) and the maternal grandfather of Bilawal Bhutto Zardari. —PTI

Heavy rains in Pak kill at least 37, buildings collapse

At least 27 people, mostly children, reportedly died in rain-related incidents in Khyber PHOTO:PTI

At least 37 people were killed in rain-related incidents across Pakistan in the past 48 hours, authorities said on Sunday. The rains that have swept across Pakistan have led to the collapse of houses and triggered landslides that blocked roads, particularly in the northwestern Khyber Pakhtunkhwa (KPK) province, they said.

At least 27 people, mostly children, reportedly died in rain-related incidents in Khyber Pakhtunkhwa province bordering Afghanistan since Thursday night, the provincial disaster management authority said.

As many as 37 people have been injured in the torrential rains that hit ten districts, including Bajaur, Swat, Lower Dir, Malakand, Khyber, Peshawar, North, South Waziristan, and Lakki Marwat, of Khyber Pakhtunkhwa province in the past 48 hours, it said. Chief Minister KPK Ali Amin Gandapur said rain-affected people would not be left alone in this critical hour and would be duly compensated against their damages.

At least five people died in southwestern Balochistan province after floods swamped the coastal town of Gwadar, forcing authorities to use boats to evacuate people.

According to officials, heavy rainfall in Gwadar over the past two days disrupted normal life, rendering hundreds of people homeless.

Casualties and damage were also reported in Pakistan-occupied Kashmir, the National Disaster Management Authority said, adding that five persons were killed in the region. —PTI

Israeli ground forces carried out an extensive series of attacks on Hamas targets in western Khan Yunis overnight, the Israel Defence Forces said on Sunday morning.

During the strikes, soldiers eliminated Hamas terrorists operating from civilian facilities in urban areas. The attacks began with a series of air and artillery strikes on approximately 50 targets in six minutes. Among the targets hit were underground terror infrastructure, military structures, anti-tank missile launch posts, rigged structures, and operational meeting points that posed a threat to Israeli troops in the area.

Additionally, over the past day, IDF troops eliminated over 30 terrorists and located weapons in central Gaza. During one of the operational activities in the area, ground forces identified a Hamas squad loading suspected weapons, who approached the troops in the area. —ANI

SEOUL, 3 MARCH

Thousands of senior doctors rallied in Seoul on Sunday to express their support for junior doctors who have been on strike for nearly two weeks over a government plan to sharply increase the number of medical school admissions.

The rally came as the government said it would begin to take steps Monday to suspend the medical licenses of nearly 9,000 medical interns and residents for defying government orders to end their walkouts, which have disrupted hospital operations. "The government's absurd medical policy has triggered immense resistance by trainee doctors and medical students, and we doctors have become one," Park Sung-min, a senior member of the Korea Medical Association, said in a speech at the rally. "I'm asking the government: Please, stop the threats and suppression now."

Protesters chanted slogans, sang and held placards criticising the government's plan. There were were no reports of any violence at the rally. As of Thursday night, 8,945 of the country's 13,000 medical interns and residents were confirmed to have left their worksites, according to the Health Ministry. The government has repeatedly said they would face minimum three-month license suspensions and indictments by prosecutors if they didn't return by 29 February. The striking doctors are a fraction of 1,40,000 doctors. But they account for about 30-40 per cent of the total doctors at some major hospitals, where they assist senior doctors during surgeries and other treatments while training. Their walkouts have subsequently caused numerous cancellations of surgeries and medical treatments at the hospitals. Senior doctors have staged a series of rallies backing the young doctors but haven't joined the walkouts. If they also launch strikes, that would pose a major blow to medical service. —AP

SL's tourism sees 122% growth in Jan 2024 from last year

COLOMBO, 3 MARCH

Siyambalapitiya said the bank figures show that receipts from tourism had fetched USD 342 million PHOTO: PIXBAY

A Sri Lankan minister on Sunday said the country's external sector performance has seen a marked improvement year on year with tourism fetching $342 million in January 2024, an impressive 122 per cent jump from last year.

Speaking in Ruwanwella, his home constituency, Minister of State for Finance Ranjith Siyambalapitiya was delving into the Central Bank of Sri Lanka's external sector indicators issued mid-week. Siyambalapitiya said the bank figures show that receipts from tourism had fetched USD 342 million, which is a 122 per cent growth in January 2024 year on year.

The inward remittances from Sri Lankan expats in January 2024 had grown by five per cent to USD 488 million up from USD 467 million in January 2023. The Sri Lankan rupee, which had seen a massive slump during the unprecedented economic crisis, had appreciated by 14.6 per cent in January of this year. The foreign reserves had increased to USD 4.5 billion in January up 114 per cent from USD 2.1 billion in January 2023. The economy recorded positive growth in the third quarter of 2023 after six successive quarters of negative growth, Siyambalapitiya said. Sri Lanka in the second quarter of 2022 had declared bankruptcy announcing the island's first ever sovereign default. Negotiations with the IMF for a bailout began almost immediately and the first tranche of the USD 2.9 billion facility was released in March 2023.

The finance ministry officials said the IMF officials are due this week to carry out its second review after which the third tranche of the facility could be released by around June. —PTI

Election 2024: Trump wins Missouri, Idaho caucuses

COLUMBIA, 3 MARCH

- Trump earned every delegate at stake on Saturday, bringing his count to 244 compared to 24 for former UN ambassador Nikki Haley

Former president Donald Trump continued his march toward the GOP nomination on Saturday, winning caucuses in Idaho and Missouri and sweeping the delegate haul at a party convention in Michigan.

Trump earned every delegate at stake on Saturday, bringing his count to 244 compared to 24 for former UN ambassador Nikki Haley. A candidate needs to secure 1,215 delegates to clinch the Republican nomination. The next event on the Republican calendar is Sunday in the District of Columbia. Two days later is Super Tuesday, when 16 states will hold primaries on what will be the largest day of voting of the year outside of the November election. Trump is on track to lock up the nomination days later.

The steep odds facing Haley were on display in Columbia, Missouri, where Republicans gathered at a church to caucus. Seth Christensen stood on stage received.

Another caucusgoer shouted out from the audience: "Are you a Republican?" An organizer quieted the crowd and Christensen finished his speech. Haley went on to win just 37 of the 263 Republicans in attendance in Boone County. Michigan Republicans at their convention in Grand Rapids began allocating 39 of the state's 55 GOP presidential delegates. Trump won all 39 delegates allocated. But a significant portion of the party's grassroots force was skipping the gathering because of the lingering effects of a monthslong dispute over the party's leadership. —AP

Haiti: Hundreds of prisoners escape Port-au-Prince prison

Hundreds of prisoners have escaped from Haiti's National Penitentiary in Port-au-Prince, after fighting erupted on Saturday, CNN reported citing a law enforcement source.

In a post on X, one of Haiti's Police Unions pleaded for all officers in the capital with access to cars and weapons to support police fighting to have control over the penitentiary. They warned that if the attackers were successful "we are done. No one will be spared in the capital because there will be 3,000 extra bandits now effective," according to the statement.

The most recent rise in violence, which started on Thursday and has targeted police stations, the international airport and the National Penitentiary, is unprecedented in recent years, CNN reported citing multiple security sources in Port-au-Prince.

On Friday, Haitian gang leader Jimmy Cherizier, also known as Barbecue, said he would continue to make efforts to try and oust Haitian Prime Minister Ariel Henry, according to CNN report.

Cherizier said, "We ask the Haitian National Police and the military to take responsibility and arrest Ariel Henry. Once again, the population is not our enemy; the armed groups are not your enemy. You arrest Ariel Henry for the country's liberation." He added, "With these weapons, we will liberate the country, and these weapons will change the country."

Jimmy Cherizier, a former police officer, who heads an alliance of gangs, has faced sanctions from the US Department of Treasury and the United Nations, CNN reported. People in Haiti disappointed over Henry's inability to control the unrest, boiled over after he did not step down in February, citing the escalating violence.

Under a previous agreement, Ariel Henry had announced to hold elections and transfer power by 7 February. On Wednesday, Caribbean leaders said that Haitian Prime Minister Ariel Henry had agreed to hold general elections no later than 31 August, 2025. —ANI

'INDIA TO BE BIGGEST CHIP MAKER IN 5 YEARS'

India eyes to step up the manufacturing value chain

NEW DELHI, 3 MARCH

India will, in next five years, join the high-stake global stage of semiconductor manufacturing as it combines unparalleled design capabilities with USD 10 billion of incentives to draw manufacturers to set up new fabs and units that will cut dominance of Taiwan, South Korea and China, said IT and Telecom Minister Ashwini Vaishnaw.

He said India's well-crafted policies are tempting manufacturers to set up new fabs (semiconductor fabrication plants) and pouring investment in related sectors. Semiconductors are an essential component of electronic devices, and are used in automobiles to computers, mobile phones and even washing machines.India already has factories of best known automobile companies -- from Renault-Nissan to Hyundai, computer makers such as Dell, Apple suppliers and electronic makers like Samsung which produce TVs, washing machines and fridges, among others.

Ashwini Vaishnaw said the country already has roughly one-third of global design talent PHOTO: PTI

Now, India is eyeing to step up the manufacturing value chain with a high-stake semiconductor manufacturing. Centre's Rs 76,000 crore of incentives have got four players including Micron and Tatas.

Vaishnaw said the country already has roughly one-third of global design talent.Government is leveraging this and India's geopolitical clout to become an indispensable partner for tech ambitions of the US, which like other western economies, is looking to decouple their supply chains from China.

- Prime Minister Narendra Modi-led government's Rs 76,000 crore of incentives have got four players including Micron and Tatas

Beijig's draconian lockdowns had disrupted global chip supply and sent companies and governments on a hunt for alternatives.India is offering itself as a democratic and trusted alternative tech hub to China.

"People who were earlier thinking when should we go to India or should we go to India...now they are asking how soon do we go to India...that is the change which is happening. This means, practically every big player would now like to reconsider their investment plans and come to India," he said.

The semiconductor plans will make India self-reliant, trigger a multiplier effect on economy and various industries, create job and spur livelihoods.As per the announcements, Tata Electronics Pvt Ltd will set up a semiconductor fab in partnership with Taiwan's Powerchip Semiconductor Manufacturing Corp at Dholera's special industrial region in Gujarat.

The plant will have the capacity to produce 50,000 wafers per month and involve an investment of Rs 91,000 crore.

Notably, this will be India's first semiconductor unit in the northeast. —PTI

FPIs reverse trend; inject ₹1.5cr into Indian equities in February

NEW DELHI, 3 MARCH

Foreign investors made a significant turnaround and injected over Rs 1,500 crore into Indian equities in February, reversing the massive outflows seen in the preceding month, primarily due to robust corporate earnings and positive economic growth.

Additionally, Foreign Portfolio Investors (FPIs) continued to be bullish on the debt markets as they put in over Rs 22,419 crore during the month under review, data with the depositories showed.

Looking ahead to March, the outlook for FPI flow appears promising, provided the current economic trajectory and corporate performance sustain their positive momentum, potentially continuing to attract foreign investment into Indian equities, Mayank Mehraa, smallcase manager and principal partner at Craving Alpha, said.

According to the data, FPIs invested a net sum of Rs 1,539 crore in the Indian equities in February. This came following a net withdrawal of Rs 25,743 crore in January.The latest influx can be attributed to robust corporate earnings and positive economic growth trends observed during the December quarter.

Despite perceived stretched valuations in the previous month, the compelling performance of companies justified their value, enticing FPIs to re-enter the market, Mehraa said.

Himanshu Srivastava, Associate Director - Manager Research, Morningstar Investment Research India, said that improvement in the global economic environment would have prompted FPIs to invest in high growth-oriented markets like India.Globally, the January inflation numbers in the US were in line with expectations. Though the prices moved up in January, the annual increase in inflation was the lowest in nearly three years, raising expectation of an early rate cut by US Federal Reserve.

On the domestic front too, Q3 GDP data showed strong growth, thus attracting foreign investors, he added. —PTI

'India-UAE non-oil trade could hit $100B by 2030'

ABU DHABI, 3 MARCH

The target of USD 100 billion non-oil trade between India and the UAE by 2030 is ambitious but achievable as huge business opportunities are there in both the nations for sectors such as textiles, jewellery and pharma, CII President R Dinesh said on Sunday.

He said that the free trade agreement between India and the UAE, which was implemented in May 2022, has resulted in a surge in bilateral trade and investments.

Dinesh was here to participate in global investors' event 'Investopia' and various bilateral meetings, including with many participants at the WTO (World Trade Organisation) Ministerial Conference.

"The target to achieve USD 100 billion in non-oil trade between India and UAE is ambitious but I do believe that it is achievable and recent developments are encouraging in this regard," the CII president told PTI here.

He said that the agreement, officially dubbed as comprehensive economic partnership agreement, covers duty-free access to all labour-intensive sectors such as gems and jewellery, textiles and apparel, leather, pharmaceuticals, medical devices, and many engineering products.

The bilateral trade has already touched USD 84.9 billion in 2022-23, and India is now the UAE's top non-oil trading partner.

"India's vast consumer base and growing manufacturing capabilities offer an attractive market for UAE goods, while the UAE's status as a global trade hub facilitates Indian export access to international markets," he said.The UAE is a major supplier of crude oil to India. Oil shipments account for a major share of bilateral trade between the countries.

The pact, he said, also paves the way for both Indian and UAE companies to come together to be part of global supply chains and encourage manufacturing in both countries. He added that joint ventures and technology transfers would enhance production, leading to diversification and value addition. —PTI

Rooftop solar capacity addition saw a 6.25 per cent growth to 1.7 gigawatt in 2023, supported by various factors like reduced installation cost, according to Mercom Capital.

The rooftop capacity addition was at 1.6 gigawatt (GW) in 2022, the US-based research firm said in its latest report.

In October-December 2023, 406 megawatts (MW) of rooftop solar was added, down 15.9 per cent from 483 MW in the last quarter of 2022, the 'Mercom India Rooftop Solar Market Report' said.

The residential segment accounted for over half of the capacity additions in 2023, followed by C&I segments.Rooftop solar tenders totalling 1.2 GW were issued in 2023, down 45.7 per cent year-on-year. Uttar Pradesh New Energy Development Agency drove tender activity in 2023, accounting for 44.2 per cent of announced tender capacity, the report said.Tenders to add rooftop solar systems on government buildings across India accounted for nearly 57 per cent of the announced total solar tender capacity.

Gujarat was the leader in installation, accounting for 27.3 per cent of cumulative solar rooftop installations, followed by Maharashtra and Rajasthan, with 13.3 per cent and 8.1 per cent share, respectively. —PTI

Shardul-led Mumbai's rearguard puts Tamil Nadu on the mat

Himanshu Mantri hundred gives MP an edge over Vidarbha

MUMBAI, 3 MAR

Shardul Thakur's sizzling 109 and Tanush Kotian's unbeaten 74 offset R Sai Kishore's six-wicket haul, putting Mumbai in command by powering them to a 207-run first-innings lead over Tamil Nadu on the second day of the Ranji Trophy semifinal here on Sunday.

Thakur's sensational counter-attacking hundred, featuring 13 fours and four sixes from a mere 104 balls, pulled Mumbai out of the doldrums after they were reduced to 106 for seven at one stage. Mumbai were 353 for 9 at stumps against TN's first innings' 146, with Sai Kishore causing the maximum damage.

Sai Kishore (6/97) ran through a chunk of Mumbai's batting line-up, while Shreyas Iyer (3) fell to pacer Sandeep Warrier as TN leveled up with the hosts for the first time in the game.

But Thakur launched a stunning onslaught, putting each of the TN bowlers under severe pressure while forging vital partnerships along the way to take Mumbai far ahead in the game.Thakur teamed up with Hardik Tamore (35) for a crucial 105-run stand for the eighth wicket and took Mumbai further ahead in the company of Kotian, adding another 79 runs for the ninth wicket.

Thakur, who also struggled with an ankle-related issue along the way, finally fell to Kuldeep Sen (2/65) in the third session, which brought the pair of Kotian and Tushar Deshpande together again after their heroics in the last match.

"We (got) bogged down a little in the first session. There was not too much happening today in the pitch and I felt batsmen should have played with some kind of freedom to start within the first innings," he told the media after the end of play here.

Brief scores: Tamil Nadu 146 trail Mumbai 353/9 in 100 overs (Shardul Thakur 109, Tanush Kotian 74 not out; R Sai Kishore 6/97) by 207 runs.

Himanshu Mantri showed patience and technical aptitude while constructing a fine hundred to singlehandedly guide Madhya Pradesh to 252 in their first innings against Vidarbha on the second day of their Ranji Trophy semifinal here on Sunday.

Mantri's 126 off 265 balls (13x4, 1x6) helped Madhya Pradesh to gain a small yet significant 82-run lead after beginning the day at 47 for one.

In their second innings, Vidarbha reached 13 for the loss of Atharva Taide at stumps, trailing by 69 runs.

The importance of Mantri's knock, his third hundred of the season, can be gauged from the fact that the next highest score in MP innings was a 30 by Saransh Jain.

But in the morning session, Madhya Pradesh made a steady start through Mantri and Harsh Gawli as the second wicket pair stretched their alliance to 61 as Vidarbha reached 81 for one.

Brief Scores:
Vidarbha: 170 and 13/1
Madhya Pradesh 1st innings: 252 all out in 94.3 overs (Himanshu Mantri 126, Saransh Jain 30; Umesh Yadav 3/40, Yash Thakur 3/51, Akshay Wakhare 2/68). —PTI

Australia beat NZ by 172 runs in the first test

WELLINGTON, 3 MAR

Spinner Nathan Lyon took six for 65 as Australia dismissed New Zealand for 196 before lunch on the fourth day of the first test at Wellington's Basin Reserve on Sunday to win the match by 172 runs and go 1-0 up in the series.

New Zealand had started the day on 111-3 chasing a daunting victory target of 369, but Lyon sent back Rachin Ravindra for 59 and also removed Tom Blundell and Glenn Phillips inside the first hour to claim his 24th test five-wicket haul.

Daryl Mitchell and Scott Kuggeleijn offered some resistance for the seventh wicket but all-rounder Cameron Green, whose 174 not out with the bat in the first innings was instrumental to Australia's success, dismissed the latter for 26. Mitchell batted on to make 38 despite taking a blow to the helmet from a Green delivery but ran out of partners as the New Zealand tail folded in the face of Australia's attack.

The defeat leaves New Zealand with only one win in 24 tests against their neighbors this century ahead of the second and final match in the series in Christchurch starting on Friday.

Pucovski suffers a concussion after taking a blow on the head

The No. 3 batter retired hurt for 0 after being hit on his helmet by a Riley Meredith bouncer. It was just the second delivery he faced in Victoria's chase of 442 in the second innings.

The 26-year-old, who has experienced several blows to the head with the most recent being in a second XI match in January, was struck on the left side of his helmet after he turned his head to a rising delivery from Meredith.

The blow left him visibly disturbed as he kneeled on the pitch. The medical staff rushed to the center. He eventually got up and slowly walked off the field, rubbing his eyes.

"Will is currently in the hands of our medical professionals," a Cricket Victoria spokesperson said. "We'll look to provide an update in due course."

Reserve batter Campbell Kellaway came in as a concussion substitute.

Australia 383 (Green 174*, Henry 5-70) and 164 (Lyon 41, Phillips 5-45) beat New Zealand 179 (Phillips 71, Lyon 4-43) and 196 (Ravindra 59, Lyon 6-65) by 172 runs. —AP

Lanning fashions DC's easy 25-run win over GG

BENGALURU, 3 MAR

Captain Meg Lanning's fifty and a cunning spell of left-arm spin by Jess Jonassen drove Delhi Capitals to a slick 25-run victory over Gujarat Giants in their Women's Premier League match here on Sunday.

Lanning (55, 41b, 6x4, 1x6) was the Capitals' guiding force to an adequate 163 for eight despite a late flurry of wickets.

The Giants' chase never grew wings, ending up with 138 for eight despite Ashleigh Gardner's well-timed 40 off 31 balls as they crashed to their fourth defeat on the bounce.

Jonassen led the Capitals' bowling with a shrewd spell (3/22) and she received very good support from Radha Yadav (3/20). The win also propelled Delhi to the top of the table with six points.

The Gujarat side made a shaky start, conceding a maiden in the very first over to WPL debutant pacer Titas Sadhu.

Their beginning was further marred when experienced pacer Shikha Pandey castled Laura Wolvaardt with a delivery that shaped in that tiny bit to beat her swat.

But the Giants too found some flow as captain Beth Mooney and Phoebe Litchfield combined to smash 15 runs in the fourth over bowled by Pandey.

However, it was just an isolated spark as the Giants stumbled against Jonassen. In the fifth over, the Australian spinner jettisoned Mooney and Litchfield in the space of four balls to reduce Giants to 34 for three. —PTI

Luton's brave comeback falls short against Villa

BENGALURU, 3 MAR

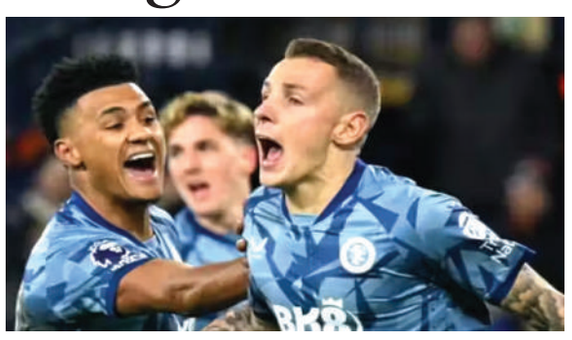

Aston Villa striker Ollie Watkins continued his dream run in the ongoing Premier League season.Watkins scored a brace as Villa edged past Luton Town in a 5-goal thriller on matchday 27.

Villa won 3-2 and remain fourth.With his output, Watkins has gone on to attain a host of feats. Here we bring you the same.

Indeed, but for some decent saves by Thomas Kaminski, the deficit could have been 3 or 4-0. But a superb half-time team talk and changing a few player positions saw Luton Town come out like a different team.With the momentum growing Aston Villa were pegged back with two goals in approximately five minutes, with Chong stabbing the ball home from close range and Morris meeting a superb free kick from Doughty to slot the ball home.

Aston Villa looked rattled, and it only looked to be a matter of time before the Hatters hit the winner. But 'Lady Luck' wasn't looking down on us and Digne ghosted in at the far post to hand the visitors the three points and leave the Hatters faithful stunned into silence.

Before that late, late winner, it looked very much as if my pre-match forecast of a draw was going to be correct, but such is life.Although gutted by how the game ended, overall, Luton Town is in no worse a position than before the game started with two of those teams, we're hoping to drag into the relegation battle, Everton and Nottingham Forest also losing at home. —AP

Bournemouth push Burnley closer to relegation

BURNLEY, 3 MAR

Bournemouth pushed struggling Burnley closer to relegation from the Premier League with a 2-0 win at Turf Moor on Sunday.

Andoni Iraola's side inflicted Burnley's 20th defeat in 27 league games this season thanks to Justin Kluivert's early goal and Antoine Semenyo's strike in the closing minutes.

While Bournemouth sit comfortably 11 points above the relegation zone after their first league win in 2024, Burnley are languishing in 19th place.

The Clarets are 11 points from safety and look destined for an immediate return to the Championship after last season's promotion.

Vincent Kompany's men are without a win in 10 games in all competitions, losing their last four and conceding 13 goals in the process.

They have lost 11 of their 14 home league games and once again appeared out of their depth despite a determined effort on a chilly afternoon in Lancashire.

Burnley should have taken an early lead when Wilson Odobert shot straight at Bournemouth keeper Neto from Lorenz Assignon's cross.

A long ball from Lewis Cook was seized on by Kluivert, who cut inside Dara O'Shea before lashing his shot past James Trafford.

Burnley got in behind the Bournemouth defense in the 41st minute, but Neto came out sharply to deny David Datro Fofana, with Jacob Bruun Larsen's follow-up bravely blocked by Adam Smith.

Bournemouth nearly doubled their lead in the 56th minute when Kluivert broke free down the left and crossed for Solanke, who was denied by a good save from Trafford.

Burnley thought they had equalized in the 66th minute, but Josh Cullen's close-range effort was disallowed for a foul by Larsen on Smith. —AP
