NEW YORK, 20 MARCH

India was ranked 126th out of 143 nations in a global happiness index released on Wednesday which noted that older age is associated with higher life satisfaction in the world's most populous country.

Finland emerged as the happiest country in the world, topping the World Happiness Report 2024, the seventh successive year that the country has occupied the top spot on the list.

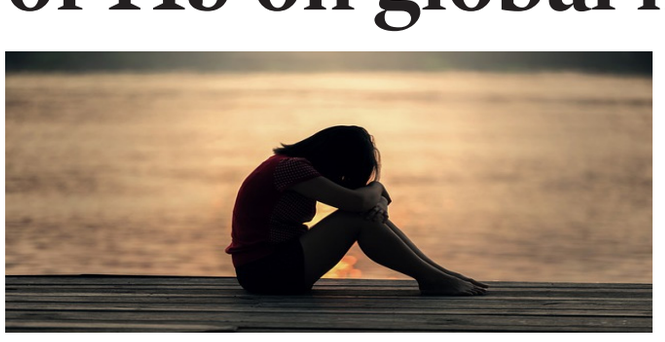

The other of the top 10 countries are Denmark, Iceland, Sweden, Israel, Netherlands, Norway, Luxembourg, Switzerland and Australia.

India is ranked 126th on the list, behind countries such as Libya, Iraq, Palestine and Niger, according to the findings announced on Wednesday to mark the UN's International Day of Happiness.

The World Happiness Report is a partnership of Gallup, the Oxford Wellbeing Research Centre, the UN Sustainable Development Solutions Network, and the WHR's Editorial Board.

The youth in India are the "happiest" while those in "lower middle" rung are the least happy.

The US (23rd) has fallen out of the top 20 for the first time since the World Happiness Report was first published in 2012, driven by a large drop in the well-being of Americans under 30.

Older men are more satisfied with life than women PHOTO: PIXABAY

The report said that older age is associated with higher life satisfaction in India, "refuting some claims that the positive association between age and life satisfaction only exists in high-income nations."

On average, older men in India are more satisfied with life than older women "but when taking all other measures into account, older women report higher life satisfaction than their male counterparts," it said. In India, older adults with secondary or higher education and those of higher social castes report higher life satisfaction than counterparts without formal education and those from scheduled castes and scheduled tribes. Satisfaction with living arrangements, perceived discrimination, and self-rated health emerge as the top three predictors of life satisfaction for India in this study, the report said. The findings of this study indicate that strengthening family networks to ensure a comfortable living arrangement for older adults, men, widowed, and those without formal education in particular, and bolstering social networks to reduce discrimination may enhance well-being. —PTI

During the telephonic conversation on Wednesday, Modi received invitations from Putin and Zelenskyy to visit the two countries amid the ongoing conflict, according to sources.

Modi reiterated India's stand on dialogue and diplomacy as a way for the resolution of the ongoing war against Ukraine, said an official release.

In conversation with Zelenskyy, Modi reiterated India's people-centric approach and called for dialogue and diplomacy as the way forward in the Russia-Ukraine conflict.

Modi noted that India supports all efforts for an early and peaceful resolution of all issues between the parties.

Zelenskyy posted on X, "It will be important for us to see India attend the inaugural Peace Summit, which is currently being prepared in Switzerland. On 24 June, 2023, Yevgeny Prigozhin, the chief of the Wagner Group, led an armed rebellion against the Russian defence minister. The rebellion started in Rostov-on-Don, in southern Russia, and forces loyal to Prigozhin marched toward Moscow.

Zomato scraps green uniform for Veg Fleet

NEW DELHI, 30 MARCH

Amid a backlash over its policy to introduce a new "Pure Veg Mode" service, Zomato CEO Deepinder Goyal on Wednesday said the company will roll back the move to introduce green uniform for its new fleet, clarifying that all its riders will continue to wear red.

Goyal was in the eye of a storm after the launch of a "Pure Veg Mode" service, intended for strictly vegetarian customers in India, to be delivered by a "Pure Veg Fleet". Netizens expressed concern over the move, saying that some societies and Resident welfare association (RWAs) may not allow Zomato's regular fleet to enter on the basis of the red-green colour segregation.

While we are going to continue to have a fleet for vegetarians, we have decided to remove the on-ground segregation of this fleet on the ground using the colour green. All our riders -- both our regular fleet, and our fleet for vegetarians, will wear the colour red," Goyal said on X. Goyal said this will ensure that Zomato's red uniform delivery partners are not incorrectly associated with non-veg food, and blocked by any RWAs or societies during any special days.

"I would like to repeat that this feature strictly serves a dietary preference. And I know there are a lot of customers who would never order food from a restaurant which serves meat, irrespective of their religion/caste," Goyal said.

JD(S) leaders became PM, CM because of us, says DK Suresh

Bengaluru Rural Congress MP DK Suresh on Wednesday claimed that leaders of Janta Dal (Secular) became Prime Minister and Chief Minister because of Congress. "We gave them space in the history of the country and State," Suresh said.

Suresh was replying to the allegations of former chief minister HD Kumaraswamy that Congress had slit the throat of JD(S) and hence they joined BJP. "I am not going to answer Kumaraswamy's questions. I pray to God that he, who is admitted to the hospital because his health is not good, gets well soon. In politics, the stronger the opponents, the better they can work. Let him get well first," Suresh said.

Kumaraswamy on Tuesday said he would be going to Chennai for medical treatment and would not be available for five days.

About the crack in the BJP-JD(S) alliance, Suresh said, "Show people the statements that the former prime minister has said in the past such as 'I will be born a Muslim in the next life', 'If Modi wins, I will leave the country'', 'The State does not need national parties, it needs regional parties'," he said.Reacting to the Hanuman Chalisa controversy, "BJP is doing this thinking that the media will give publicity. The saffron party is known to blow things out of proportion for their benefits," he said.

Siddaramaiah doesn't have grip over his administration: CT Ravi

Siddaramaiah-led government is weak and he doesn't have a grip over his administration, said BJP National General Secretary CT Ravi on Wednesday. "Siddaramaiah has to tell his followers to convey to the public that he will be the Chief Minister for the next five years," said Ravi.

Ravi said law and order has worsened in the State after Congress came to power. "The harassment of women has not only gone up but parading naked women has also become the new norm. There is a blast in Rameshwaram Cafe and playing Hanuman Chalisa has also become a reason for riots in this State. Do we need more proofs than these?" he questioned.

About Siddaramaiah calling Prime Minister Narendra Modi a 'weak PM' and labelling himself a 'strong CM', Ravi said, "He who calls himself strong is weak. It is not just our leaders and workers who said Modiji is a strong leader, the top leaders of the world also endorsed it."

Ravi claimed that Prime Minister of Israel called Modi the most popular leader and that 11 countries of the world have given their country's highest award to Modi.

The former Union minister said it was Modi who freed retired naval officers who were on death row in Qatar and brought them back safely. "During the Ukraine-Russia war, a 48-hour ceasefire was held and more than 23,000 Indian students were safely brought back to the country. Similarly, the Centre has safely brought back Indians from Syria, Israel, Sudan, Afghanistan and other countries during crisis," he said.

Before 2014, global rating companies rated India as one of the five weakest economies in the world. "But now, the country has become 5th strongest economy and in a couple of years, we will step up to the third position," he said.

BENGALURU, 20 MARCH

Senior BJP leader and former deputy chief minister, KS Eshwarappa, who is contesting as an independent candidate from Shivamogga constituency, said on Wednesday that he would emerge victorious in the upcoming Lok Sabha elections. He also predicted that State BJP President BY Vijayendra would lose his position following the announcement of election results.

Eshwarappa, who is challenging BJP candidate BY Raghavendra in Shivamogga, alleged that BJP had assured him of compensatory positions for himself and his son in exchange for his independent candidacy. He claimed that BJP promised to appoint his son as a Member of the Legislative Council (MLC) and offer him the position of Governor.

KE Kantesh, Eshwarappa's son, said his father's decision to contest independently resonated with the sentiments of party workers in Shivamogga. Kantesh criticised the BJP's decision not to nominate his father and expressed his disappointment over the party's treatment.

Eshwarappa held a meeting with his supporters in Shivamogga, urging them to rally behind him during the nomination and start campaigning in the wards.

Senior BJP leader BS Yediyurappa refuted Eshwarappa's accusations and defended the party's decision not to nominate Eshwarappa's son. Yediyurappa said Vijayendra's appointment as State President was endorsed by the party's high command and denied allegations of favouritism. He expressed hope that Eshwarappa would understand the truth and reconcile with the party in the future.

Ban on using Cauvery water for Holi festival

BENGALURU, 20 MARCH

Bangalore Water Supply and Sewerage Board (BWSSB) has issued an order prohibiting using Cauvery water and borewell water for pool parties and rain dances during Holi festival. This decision comes amid the water crisis faced by Bengaluru and aims to conserve water resources in the city. Earlier this month, BWSSB also banned the use of drinking water for non-essential purposes like cleaning vehicles, gardening, and recreation. Violation of the BWSSB order attracts a penalty of Rs 5,000. Despite the restrictions, some establishments are planning to host Holi events with pool parties. However, they claim to be using stored groundwater for these events to avoid using drinking water. For example, Hotel Davanam Sarovar Portico Suites on Hosur Road told Salar News that they will not have rain dance but will proceed with the pool party using stored groundwater.

Similarly, 'Rang De Bengaluru,' an open-air Holi party at Gokulam Grand Hotel and Spa in Jalahalli, said they harvest rainwater for the event and will use it instead of Cauvery water or borewell water. They assured that they would make necessary changes if the government raised any concerns.

However, some Holi events, like the Whitefield Biggest Holi Festival at Aloft Bengaluru, have opted to remove rain dance from their celebrations this year and plan to focus solely on celebrating with colours.

On Monday, Chief Minister Siddaramaiah said of the required quantity of water for Bengaluru, 1,470 million litres per day (MLD) of water are sourced from Cauvery river, while an additional 650 MLD is sourced from borewells. However, due to severe water shortage, 6,900 borewells out of the 14,000 in the City have dried up.

These projects will focus on various aspects such as the development of bio-retention systems, preservation of rainwater, natural filtration in Storm Water Drains, and integration of green infrastructure with water and sewage treatment plants.

This decision comes after the Chief Minister Siddaramaiah on 18 March instructed officials to prioritise the refilling of major lakes to increase the groundwater level.

AMNESTY SCHEME

20K Indians to return from Kuwait

DANIEL GEORGE
BENGALURU, 20 MARCH

More than 20,000 Indians staying illegally in Kuwait, including hundreds hailing from Mangaluru and Dakshina Kannada district, are set to make use of the amnesty scheme announced by Kuwait government. The amnesty scheme for residency violators, which coincides with Ramadan, is effective from 17 March to 17 June.

Diplomatic sources at the Indian Embassy in Kuwait told Salar News that the diplomatic mission has received a large number of applications and queries regarding the amnesty scheme announced by the Kuwaiti government. The embassy said it is prioritising the issuance of emergency certificates (a one-way travel document to travel to India in the absence of a valid Indian passport).

"Most of the applicants to avail the amnesty are those who have run away from their original sponsors to work elsewhere illegally in Kuwait. There are others whose salaries have not been paid by their employers and they went absconding," an official at the Indian Diplomatic mission told Salar News.

In a post on social media platform X, the embassy urged Indians seeking assistance to reach out via these numbers: +965 65501767 and +965 65501769.

Under the amnesty scheme, expatriates residing unlawfully in the country are now allowed to rectify their status by either paying fines and obtaining new residency or leaving the country without fines. The expats illegally residing in Kuwait can regularise their status by settling fines of 2 KD (Kuwaiti Dinar which amounts to Rs. 550) per day up to a maximum of 600 KD (Rs.1.6 lakh)

According to the advisory by the Kuwait Interior Ministry, anyone unable to pay a fine can depart from the exit point without penalties but will have to follow new procedures if they wish to return to Kuwait. The Kuwaiti government said failure to comply with these orders during the amnesty will result in deportation as well as legal penalties.

Residents facing administrative obstacles or legal challenges have the option to appeal to the Residency Affairs Department for assessment. The last amnesty period was granted in early 2021.

NEW DELHI, 20 MARCH

The bench of Justice Suresh Kumar Kait and Justice Manoj Jain after hearing the initial submissions of both sides, listed the matter for 22 April, 2024. Tamil Nadu's ruling DMK, a key constituent of the INDIA bloc, in its manifesto released on Wednesday promised to repeal the Citizenship Amendment Act, 2019 if Opposition alliance wins Lok Sabha polls.

Restoration of statehood to Jammu and Kashmir and holding polls there, scrapping the New Education Policy 2020, slashing fuel prices, annulling Article 361 of the Constitution that provides protection to governors from legal action and appointment of Governors following consultation with Chief Ministers, were among the key promises made by DMK. The recommendations of the MS Swaminathan committee will be adopted to ensure that MSP for agricultural products "is set at total production cost plus 50 per cent," DMK said.

Also, it announced that if voted to power, the INDIA bloc will withdraw the Agnipath scheme and reintroduce "permanent recruitment service" in the Indian Armed forces.

DMK will firmly insist on the removal of Article 356, which allows the dismissal of duly elected state governments and imposition of President's rule. Congress's ally in Tamil Nadu said that "new constraints" on States' borrowing capacity, imposed by the union government beyond the limits in each state's FRBM-equivalent Act will be eliminated.

"A recommendation to share cess revenues with states will be made. It will be proposed that the Finance Commission increase the horizontal devolution of tax revenue (to all States together) from 42 per cent to 50 per cent." The Union government's financial contributions to states will be based on the income tax and GST collected in those states. Thus, financial contributions will be assured based on the taxes collected within each state. The finance provided to states will be permanently determined based on the 1971 population.

A 33 per cent reservation for women in Parliament and legislative assemblies will be implemented immediately. "DMK will insist that the Union government enact a law providing menstrual leave to women, emphasising the journey towards gender equality."

Petrol and diesel prices "will be set at Rs 75, Rs 65 (per litre)" and cooking gas cylinders shall be made available at Rs 500 (per cylinder). "The introduction of the Uniform Civil Code will be strictly prevented" to preserve India's secular nature as stated in the Constitution's preamble.

The proposal of 'One Nation, One Election' will be abandoned, and for the allocation of Lok Sabha seats to states, the current practice, based on the 1971 census will continue.

The number of working days under the Mahatma Gandhi National Rural Employment Guarantee Act will be increased from 100 to 150 days. —PTI

Centre defends dropping CJI from EC draft panel

NEW DELHI, 20 MARCH

The Centre on Wednesday defended in the Supreme Court the appointment of two new election commissioners (ECs) under a 2023 law that excludes the Chief Justice of India from the selection committee, saying the independence of the Election Commission does not arise from the presence of a judicial member on the committee.

In an affidavit filed in the apex court, the Union Law Ministry rejected the petitioner's claim that the two election commissioners were hastily appointed on 14 March to "pre-empt" the orders of the top court the next day, when the matters challenging the 2023 law were listed for hearing on interim relief.

The affidavit has been filed in response to a batch of pleas, including those by Congress leader Jaya Thakur and the Association for Democratic Reforms, challenging the Chief Election Commissioner and other Election Commissioners (Appointment, Conditions of Service and Terms of Office) Act, 2023.

"It is submitted that the case of the petitioners is premised on one fundamental fallacy that the independence can only be maintained in any authority when the selection committee is of a particular formulation," the affidavit said. —PTI

Sonam Wangchuk's hunger strike enters 15th day

KARGIL, 20 MARCH

Separately, the hunger strike by climate activist Sonam Wangchuk in Leh to "remind" the BJP-led Centre of its promise to safeguard the Union Territory's fragile ecology and unique indigenous tribal culture entered its 15th day.

Responding to a call from the Kargil Democratic Alliance (KDA), which announced a half-day strike and a protest rally in the town to express solidarity with Wangchuk, a large number of people took out a rally from Fatima Chowk to Hussaini Park via the main market and raised slogans demanding statehood for Ladakh and its inclusion under the Sixth Schedule.

The KDA leadership addressed a huge gathering at Hussaini Park and urged the people to prepare for a long struggle following the failure of its talks with the Centre.

IN MONEY LAUNDERING CASES

NEW DELHI, 19 MARCH

Keeping an accused in custody without trial is akin to detention which hampers liberty, the Supreme Court said on Wednesday while deprecating the Enforcement Directorate's (ED) practice of filing supplementary chargesheets in money laundering cases to defeat the accused's right of getting default bail.

A bench of Justices Sanjiv Khanna and Dipankar Datta took exception to the ED filing four supplementary chargesheets, the latest on 1 March, 2024, in a money laundering case arising from alleged illegal mining in Jharkhand.

The top court was hearing the default bail plea of Prem Prakash, an alleged associate of former Jharkhand chief minister Hemant Soren. Prakash was arrested in August, 2022 after raids during which two AK-47 rifles, 60 live rounds and two magazines were claimed to have been found at his home in Ranchi. He was booked for the offences of money laundering and under the Arms Act.

The bench told Additional Solicitor General SV Raju, appearing for the ED, about the investigation in the case still continuing despite four supplementary chargesheets having been filed.

"We are putting you (ED) on notice. (Under the law) You cannot arrest a person without the investigation in the case being complete. A person cannot be put in custody without the commencement of trial. It is akin to detention and affects the liberty of an individual. In some cases, we have to settle this issue," the bench told Raju.

Justice Khanna said an accused cannot be denied the benefit of default bail by filing supplementary chargesheets.

Justice Khanna said the petitioner has been behind bars for 18 months and supplementary chargesheets are being filed one after the other, which is eventually delaying the trial. —PTI

SC to hear against parties giving freebies

NEW DELHI, 20 MARCH

The Supreme Court agreed to list for hearing on Thursday a Public Interest Litigation(PIL) against the practice of political parties promising freebies during elections, a significant development that comes ahead of general elections beginning 19 April.

The PIL also seeks a direction to the Election Commission to invoke its powers to freeze the election symbols and cancel the registration of such political parties.

The apex court took note of the submissions of senior advocate Vijay Hansaria, appearing for lawyer and PIL petitioner Ashwini Upadhyay, that the plea needs to be heard before the Lok Sabha polls.

The plea said there should be a total ban on populist measures to gain undue political favour from voters as they violate the Constitution, and the EC should take suitable deterrent measures.

It also urged the court to declare that the promise of irrational freebies from public funds before elections unduly influences the voters, disturbs the level playing field and vitiates the purity of the poll process.

"Petitioner submits that the recent trend of political parties to influence voters by offering freebies with an eye on elections is not only the greatest threat to the survival of democratic values but also injures the spirit of the Constitution," said the plea.

"This unethical practice is just like giving bribes to the electorate at the cost of the exchequer to stay in power and must be avoided to preserve democratic principles and practices," it said.

The petitioner has urged the apex court to declare that the promise or distribution of private goods or services, which are not for public purposes from public funds, before the elections violates several articles of the Constitution, including Article 14. —PTI

Santiago Martin who made a fortune by selling lottery tickets is in the spotlight after he was revealed to be the top donor to political parties's company in the Electoral Bonds scheme. His company Future Gaming and Hotel Services Pvt. Ltd, bought electoral bonds worth 13.68billion rupees between April 2019 and January 2024 under the scheme which allowed political donors to remain anonymous - until Supreme Court recently scrapped the scheme and ordered their names to be published.

While donations under this scheme were not illegal, electoral bonds have been accused of making political funding more opaque. The ruling BJP which introduced the scheme was the biggest beneficiary, securing almost half of the bonds donated between 2018 and 2024.

Since then, it has emerged that of the bonds bought by Martin's company, more than 5 billion rupees went to the regional Dravida Munnetra Kazhagam (DMK) party which governs Tamil Nadu where Martin started his business. It's not clear yet who the remaining recipients are.

But Martin, 63, is also seen as a controversial figure - he has been dogged by political scandals and has been accused by authorities of being involved in financial irregularities including lottery fraud.

Reports say Martin was born in 1961 in the Andaman islands off India's east coast. As a teenager, he is believed to have worked as a daily-wage labourer in present-day Myanmar. In the 1980s, he returned to India and began working in a tea shop in Tamil Nadu.

He was struck by the popularity of lottery tickets among all sections of Tamil Nadu's population, but especially the poor. It prompted him to start the business which would make him a millionaire.

Martin opened his first shop in Coimbatore city and within a few years, overtook two competitors to become the biggest seller of lottery tickets in Tamil Nadu.

Martin scaled up the sales of what were known as "two-digit" lottery tickets - scratch cards which revealed two digits that the buyer could instantly check against winning numbers revealed through a live telecast facilitated by his company.

The draw of instant money led to higher sales - and, critics say, drove many into ruin.

Martin's lottery tickets soon found a market in neighbouring Karnataka and Kerala states, and he later expanded the business to northern and north-eastern India.

In a 2001 interview to rediff.com, he said that he sold 12 million lottery tickets every day. By then, his company had agreements with several state governments for distributing lottery tickets.

The article claimed that he paid massive sums every day - 350,000 rupees in sales tax to the Tamil Nadu government and 759,000 rupees in advance to the government of the north-eastern state of Sikkim - underscoring the thundering success of his business.

In 2003, Tamil Nadu's then chief minister, J Jayalalithaa, banned the sale of lottery tickets, acting on reports of people being financially ruined due to lotteries. This was a huge blow to Martin.

In 2011, again when Jayalalithaa was in power, he was arrested and spent some months in jail in a case related to land-grabbing before getting bail.

Martin's company also faces cases of lottery fraud in states including Kerala. In 2023, India's financial crimes unit said it seized assets and bank deposits worth 4.5bn rupees after searching properties belonging to him and his associates in a case related to lottery fraud in Sikkim state.

He has not been convicted in any of the cases against him yet.

Martin has not spoken to the media about the allegations, but his company's website states that Future Gaming "is known for its compliance towards rules and regulations" wherever it conducts business.

The electoral bonds data has now led the DMK's rivals and political observers in Tamil Nadu to question why the party received donations from Mr Martin when lotteries are banned in the state.

A DMK spokesperson did not respond to the BBC's messages, but the party has said its government has made no concessions for Mr Martin's company.

His family members also have ties to different political parties - his son-in-law is a member of the Viduthalai Chiruthaigal Katchi (Liberation Panthers Party), which is part of a Congress-led opposition alliance against the BJP, while his wife Leema has joined the Indhiya Jananayaga Katchi (Indian Democratic Party), which is an ally of BJP.

Solar waste could reach 600 kilotonnes by 2030

India's solar waste could reach a staggering 600 kilotonnes by 2030 equivalent to filling up 720 Olympic-size swimming pools according to a new study released on Wednesday.

The study by the Ministry of New and Renewable Energy and independent think tank Council on Energy, Environment and Water (CEEW) said around 67 per cent of this waste will come from five states: Rajasthan, Gujarat, Karnataka, Andhra Pradesh, and Tamil Nadu.

India's current installed 66.7 GW capacity (as of FY23) has already generated about 100 kilotonnes of waste, which will increase to 340 kilotonnes by 2030. This will include about 10 kilotonnes of silicon, 12-18 tonnes of silver, and 16 tonnes of cadmium and tellurium the majority of which are critical minerals for India, the study titled "Enabling a Circular Economy in India's Solar Industry: Assessing the Solar Waste Quantum" said.

Recycling solar waste to recover these materials will reduce import dependency and enhance India's mineral security.

The study found that the rest of the 260 kilotonnes of waste will come from new capacity that will be deployed in this decade (from 2024 to 2030).

The solar waste will increase to about 19,000 kilotonnes by 2050; 77 per cent of which will arise from new capacities, CEEW said, adding this is an opportunity for India to emerge as a leading hub of circular economy for the solar industry and ensure resilient solar supply chains.

India plans to amass around 292 gigawatt of solar capacity by 2030, making solar PV waste management crucial for environmental, economic, and social reasons.

The study, conducted under Niti Aayog's Action Plan for Circular Economy - Solar Panels, for the first time, estimates India-specific solar waste generation from various streams, excluding manufacturing.

This information is crucial for creating data-driven waste management policies. India is already implementing several measures to tackle the waste. Last year, the environment ministry issued amended E-waste Management Rules 2022 bringing solar photovoltaic cells, panels, and modules under its ambit.

These rules mandate the producers of solar cells and modules to manage their waste under the extended producer responsibility (EPR) framework.

Arunabha Ghosh, CEO, CEEW, said, "India must proactively address solar waste, not just as an environmental imperative but as a strategic necessity for ensuring energy security and building a circular economy. As we witness the remarkable growth of solar from only 4 GW in March 2015 to 73 GW in December 2023, robust recycling mechanisms become increasingly crucial. They safeguard renewable ecosystems, create green jobs, enhance mineral security, foster innovation, and build resilient, circular supply chains."

Neeraj Kuldeep, Senior Programme Lead, CEEW, said, "India's G20 Presidency identified a circular economy as a thrust area for sustainable development. A circular solar industry and responsible waste management will maximise resource efficiency and make domestic supply chains resilient. The study provides robust evidence of the opportunity in solar waste management. However, solar recycling technologies and the industry are still at a nascent stage and require policy push and support."

llegal profits from forced labour up by 37% in last 10 years: UN

Illegal profits from forced labour worldwide have risen to the "obscene" amount of USD 236 billion per year, UN labour agency reported. With sexual exploitation to blame for three-fourths of the take from a business that deprives migrants of money they can send home, swipes jobs from legal workers, and allows the criminals behind it to dodge taxes.

The International Labour Organisation (ILO) said the tally for 2021, the most recent year covered in the painstaking international study, marked an increase of 37 per cent, or USD 64 billion, compared with its last estimate published a decade ago. That's a result of both more people being exploited and more cash generated from each victim, ILO said.

"USD 236 billion. This is the obscene level of annual profit generated from forced labour in the world today," the first line of the report's introduction said. That figure represents earnings "effectively stolen from the pockets of workers" by those who coerce them to work, as well as money taken from remittances of migrants and lost tax revenue for governments.

ILO officials noted that such a sum equaled the economic output of EU member Croatia and eclipsed the annual revenues of tech giants like Microsoft and Samsung.

Forced labour can encourage corruption, strengthen criminal networks and incentivize further exploitation, ILO said.

"People in forced labour are subject to multiple forms of coercion, the deliberate and systematic withholding of wages being amongst the most common," he said in a statement. "Forced labour perpetuates cycles of poverty and exploitation and strikes at the heart of human dignity.""We now know that the situation has only got worse," Houngbo added. ILO defines forced labour as work that's imposed against the will of the employee and exacted under penalty or the threat of one. It can happen at any phase of employment: during recruitment, in living conditions associated with work or by forcing people to stay in a job when they want to leave it.

On any given day in 2021, an estimated 27.6 million people were in forced labour a 10 per cent rise from five years earlier, ILO said. The Asia-Pacific region was home to more than half of those, while Africa, the Americas, and Europe-Central Asia each represented about 13 per cent to 14 per cent.

The International Labour Organisation said the tally for 2021, the most recent year covered in the international study, marked an increase of 37 per cent PHOTO: I NTERNATIONAL LABOUR ORGANISATION

Some 85 per cent of the people affected were working in "privately imposed forced labour," which can include slavery, serfdom, bonded labour, and activities like forms of begging where cash taken in goes to the benefit of someone else, ILO said. The rest were in forced labour imposed by government authorities a practice not covered in the study.Some critics have railed against "modern day slavery" in places like the prison system in the US state of Alabama.ILO experts said that government-imposed forced labour was excluded from the report because of a shortage of data about it even if estimates show nearly 4 million people were affected by it.

"The ILO certainly decries instances of state imposed forced labour wherever they occur, and whether that's in prison systems or the abuse of military conscription or other forms or manifestations of state and post forced labour," said Scott Lyon, an ILO senior policy officer.

While the report said just over one-fourth of the victims worldwide were subject to sexual exploitation, it accounted for nearly USD 173 billion in profits, or nearly three-quarters of the global total a sign of the higher margins generated from selling sex.

Some 6.3 million people faced situations of forced commercial sexual exploitation on any given day three years ago and nearly four in five of those victims were girls or women, ILO said. Children accounted for more than a quarter of the total cases.

Forced labour in industry trailed in a distant second, at USD 35 billion, followed by services at nearly USD 21 billion, agriculture at USD 5 billion and domestic work at USD 2.6 billion, the Geneva-based labour agency said.

Manuela Tomei, ILO's assistant Director-General for governance, said that "no region is immune" to the practice of forced labour and all economic sectors are involved.While countries including the United States were cited at the conference for efforts to fight forced labor, Tomei said the world was "far away" from UN goals to eradicate forced labour by 2030. "Forced labour is the opposite of social justice," he said. "Let me be very clear. Business must never be done at the expense of workers, dignity and labour rights."

Senegal President rejects blame for election chaos

DAKAR, 20 MARCH

Senegal's president has told BBC he does not regret delaying this year's elections, a move that sparked deadly protests. Macky Sall said he did not make the decision alone - he was responding to concerns raised by parliamentarians. After a violent backlash, many feared the relatively stable nation was slipping into political crisis. But the attempt to push the election back by 10 months was blocked by Senegal's top court. The vote will now take place on Sunday - a month after it was initially due. "I have no apology to make, I have done nothing wrong," President Sall told BBC. "All the actions that have been taken have been within the framework of the law and regulations." With just three weeks to go before the 25 February election, Sall announced that it would be delayed, a move that was later approved by parliament. —BBC News

TAIPEI, 20 MARCH

- The Taiwan Ministry of National Defense has reportedly tracked 15 Chinese military aircraft and 10 naval vessels across Taiwan, between 6 am on Tuesday (19 March) and 6 am on Wednesday (20 March), Taiwan News reported

The Taiwan Ministry of National Defense (MND) has reportedly tracked 15 Chinese military aircraft and 10 naval vessels across Taiwan, between 6 am on Tuesday (19 March) and 6 am on Wednesday (20 March), Taiwan News reported.

Among the 15 People's Liberation Army (PLA) aircraft, six entered the southwest corner of Taiwan's air defense identification zone (ADIZ), according to the MND.

However, no PLA aircraft crossed the Taiwan Strait median line at that time, as reported by Taiwan News.

Responding to that, Taiwan sent aircraft and naval ships and deployed air defence missile systems to monitor the PLA activity.

Reportedly, this month, Taiwan has tracked Chinese military aircraft 209 times and naval vessels 133 times.

Since September 2020, China has increased its use of gray zone tactics by gradually increasing the number of military aircraft and naval ships operating around Taiwan, according to Taiwan News.

Gray zone tactics are defined as "an effort or series of efforts beyond steady-state deterrence and assurance that attempts to achieve one's security objectives without resorting to direct and sizable use of force."

Earlier, Taiwan's MND reported the tracking of ten Chinese naval vessels and nine military aircraft in the vicinity of Taiwan between 6 am on Monday and 6 am on Tuesday.

Among the nine People's Liberation Army (PLA) aircraft, one Chinese drone breached Taiwan's air defence identification zone (ADIZ) in the southwest, while a PLA helicopter was monitored in the southeast sector of the ADIZ. —ANI

IMRAN KHAN APPROACHES SUPREME COURT

ISLAMABAD, 20 MARCH

Pakistan's jailed former prime minister Imran Khan on Wednesday approached the Supreme Court to form a judicial commission comprising serving judges to probe the authenticity of last month's elections marred by allegations of rigging.

The general elections were held on 8 February but Khan's Pakistan Tehreek-e-Insaf refused to accept the outcome by alleging that the results were manipulated. Senior lawyer Hamid Khan, who is also a leader of PTI, filed the petition on behalf of Khan, stating the commission should investigate, audit and review matters related to the procedure and conduct of the general elections held on 8 February, as well as its results and the investigation should be complete and made public.

"It is further prayed that all the consequential acts of forming the government at the federal and Punjab levels be immediately suspended till the result of the probe by the Judicial Commission appointed on this behalf is made public," the petition stated.

Khan's party claims that it had won about 180 seats of the National Assembly but the results were rigged and it was deprived of dozens of them and won only 92 out of 266 contested seats. —PTI

Boat carrying migrants capsizes off Indonesia

BANDA ACEH, 20 MARCH

A wooden boat carrying dozens of Rohingya Muslims capsized about 16 miles from the coastline of Kuala Bubon beach in Indonesia's northernmost province of Aceh on Wednesday.

Local fishermen from Kuala Bubon rescued six of the refugees and evacuated them to a temporary shelter. There were no immediate reports of casualties. About 7,40,000 Rohingya were resettled in Bangladesh to escape the brutal counterinsurgency campaign by security forces in their homeland of Myanmar.

Thousands have been trying to flee overcrowded camps in Bangladesh to neighboring countries with Indonesia seeing a spike in refugee numbers since November, prompting it to call on the international community for help. Rohingya arriving in Aceh face some hostility from some fellow Muslims.

Last year, nearly 4,500 Rohingya two-thirds of them women and children fled their homeland of Myanmar and the refugee camps in neighbouring Bangladesh by boat, the United Nations refugee agency reported. Of those, 569 died or went missing while crossing the Bay of Bengal and Andaman Sea, the highest death toll since 2014.

Returning safely to Myanmar is virtually impossible because the military that attacked them overthrew Myanmar's democratically elected government in 2021. So far, no country is offering them any large-scale resettlement opportunities. —AP

8 dead after tanker capsizes off Japan

TOKYO, 20 MARCH

Seven people have been pronounced dead after a South Korean ship capsized off an island in southwestern Japan, the coast guard said on Wednesday afternoon, out of nine crew members found so far.

Authorities said that one member of the crew was alive, and described another's condition as unknown. Earlier, authorities said all nine were in "unknown condition".

The coast guard is still searching for two more people who were on the chemical tanker, which flipped over after reporting trouble in a rough sea.

The coast guard said it received a distress call from the chemical tanker Keoyoung Sun, saying that it was tilting while seeking refuge from the weather near Japan's Mutsure Island. The island is just off the southwestern end of Japan's main island of Honshu, about 1,000 kilometers (620 miles) from Tokyo.

The ship was completely capsized by the time rescuers arrived at the scene, the coast guard said.

Footage on NHK television showed the ship completely upside down, a rough sea washing over its red underside. The ship was carrying a South Korean captain, and its crew included another South Korean national, a Chinese national and eight Indonesians, according to the coast guard. —AP

11 months into war, famine looms in Sudan

KABUL, 20 MARCH

Civilians caught up in Sudan's civil war have given graphic accounts to the BBC of rape, ethnic violence and street executions. Our journalists have managed to make it to the front line of the fighting close to the capital, Khartoum.

Top UN officials have said the conflict has plunged the country into "one of the worst humanitarian nightmares in recent history" and could trigger the world's largest hunger crisis.

There are also fears that in Darfur, in the west of the country, a repeat of what the US called genocide 20 years ago may be beginning to unfold. As if out of nowhere, a huge blast shakes the road in Omdurman. People scream and run in all directions, shouting: "Go back, go back, there'll be another one." Thick smoke blankets everything. Moments earlier, the battered street had been dotted with pedestrians picking up rice, bread and vegetables from the shops, which had only recently begun to re-open. In mid-February, the Sudanese army retook the city - one of three along the River Nile that form Sudan's wider capital, Khartoum.

Civilians have now started to return, but mortars, like the one that landed in the middle of this main street, still fall daily. For international media, gaining access to cover the civil war that erupted last April has been difficult - but BBC has managed to get to the front line. —BBC News

TALIBAN ORDER

Afghanistan schools starts without 1M girls

ISLAMABAD, 20 MARCH

The school year in Afghanistan started Wednesday but without girls whom the Taliban barred from attending classes beyond the sixth grade, making it the only country with restrictions on female education.

The UN children's agency says more than 1 million girls are affected by the ban. It also estimates 5 million were out of school before the Taliban takeover due to a lack of facilities and other reasons. The Taliban's education ministry marked the start of the new academic year with a ceremony that female journalists were not allowed to attend. The invitations sent out to reporters said: "Due to the lack of a suitable place for the sisters, we apologise to female reporters."

During a ceremony, the Taliban's education minister, Habibullah Agha, said that the ministry is trying "to increase the quality of education of religious and modern sciences as much as possible." The Taliban have been prioritising Islamic knowledge over basic literacy and numeracy with their shift toward madrassas, or religious schools.

The minister also called on students to avoid wearing clothes that contradict Islamic and Afghan principles. Abdul Salam Hanafi, the Taliban's deputy prime minister, said they were trying to expand education in "all remote areas in the country." The Taliban previously said girls continuing their education went against their strict interpretation of Islamic law, or Sharia, and that certain conditions were needed for their return to school. However, they made no progress in creating said conditions. When they ruled Afghanistan in the 1990s, they also banned girls' education. —AP

NEW DELHI, 20 MARCH

The petitioner alleged that Truecaller shared data of third parties without consent PHOTO: X

Delhi High Court on Wednesday dismissed with a costs of Rs 10,000 a plea to reconsider its decision refusing to entertain a public interest legislation alleging violation of people's right to privacy by Truecaller, a global caller ID platform.

A bench of Acting Chief Justice Manmohan and Justice Manmeet PS Arora said no grounds were made out for review of its 12 February order.

The bench said the costs of Rs 10,000 shall be paid to the Central government.

Petitioner Ajay Shukla sought review of the court's order by which his petition was dismissed.

The petitioner's counsel said the order was passed only on the basis of oral submissions made on behalf of the respondent authorities.

The Centre's counsel opposed the review plea, saying this was an abuse of process of law and this type of misadventure needs to be dealt with strictly.

The counsel further contended that the petition be dismissed with heavy costs as the whole government machinery comes into motion whenever such petitions are filed.

The petitioner's counsel had argued that the "cause of action" in the two petitions was different and the plea was not filed for publicity.

The petitioner alleged that Truecaller shared data of third parties without consent, that is, mobile number and e-mail ID of contacts from the phonebook of the person using the mobile app.

The petitioner also claimed Truecaller causes "reputational loss and commercial loss" as it gives an option to mark contact numbers as "spam". PTI

Confederation of Indian Small Tea Growers' Associations (CISTA), a body of small tea growers, has voiced concern over the alleged poor quality of teas flooding the market and urged the intervention of the Tea Board in this regard.

In a letter written to Tea Board chairman A S Bhatia, CISTA president Bijoy Gopal Chakraborty said that a generic campaign focussed on the health benefits of drinking tea should be carried out to promote consumption among the young people who are more enticed to partake soft drinks and coffee.

"We have observed that bad quality teas are flooded in the domestic market and these were being sold at a very low price. Poor quality tea manufacturing and packaging should be stopped immediately", the association said in the letter.

CISTA said that the commerce ministry has enhanced the budget for a generic campaign of tea which is the need of the hour.

"Young people in the age group of 18 years to 22 years are far away from tea drinking and have more affinity for soft drinks and coffee. A focussed generic campaign highlighting the health benefits of tea drinking is needed to increase per capita domestic consumption of the beverage", the letter said.

The association, in another letter to the Tea Board chairman, said that as the price of green leaf was almost stagnant for the last seven years and cost of production rising, there is a need for a minimum support price or fair price of the same. Small tea growers contribute to more than 50 per cent of total production in the country. —PTI

PARIS, 20 MARCH

- The dispute is part of a larger effort by authorities in the European Union and around the world to force Google and other tech companies to compensate news publishers for content

France's competition watchdog hit Google on Wednesday with another big fine tied to a long-running dispute over payments to French publishers for their news.

The French Competition Authority said it issued the 250 million euro ($272 million) penalty because of Google's failure to comply with some commitments it made in a negotiating framework.

The dispute is part of a larger effort by authorities in the European Union and around the world to force Google and other tech companies to compensate news publishers for content.

The US tech giant was forced to negotiate with French publishers after a court in 2020 upheld an order saying payments were required by a 2019 European Union copyright directive.

Google said in a blog post that it agreed to settle the fine, which was imposed over how it conducted the negotiations, "because it's time to move on." It said the fine was "not proportionate" to the issues raised by the French watchdog and "doesn't sufficiently take into account" Google's efforts to answer and resolve the concerns. France was the first of the EU's 27 nations to adopt the copyright directive, which lays out a way for publishers and news companies to strike licensing deals with online platforms.

Wednesday's decision by the French Competition Authority is the fourth in as many years against Google for failing to comply with the EU legal framework that aims to establish "necessary conditions for balanced negotiations between press agencies, publishers and digital platforms".

The French antitrust agency had issued temporary orders to Google in April 2020 to hold talks within three months with news publishers. In 2021, the agency fined Google 500 million euros ($592 million) for failing to negotiate a fair payment for publishers' news.

SEBI proposes audiovisual details of IPO

MUMBAI, 20 MARCH

Financial market regulator Securities and Exchange Board of India (SEBI) has proposed that companies desirous of raising capital through public issues may be required to file disclosures made in the draft red herring prospectus (DRHP) in an audio-visual format.

The disclosures are made for investors so that they can make informed decisions while investing in the company's public issue.

DRHP is a document that consists of the company's financial details, future prospects, and other key aspects regarding the business and is being filed to the regulator to raise money essentially via public offerings of its shares.

In its draft put up on its website on Tuesday, the regulator proposed that the audio visual on the public issues will be in bilingual version -- English and Hindi and made available in the public domain.

SEBI said it is expected that the audiovisual will provide ease in understanding the salient features and also provide reference to various disclosures of the proposed public issue. —ANI

The total number of transactions recorded in the month of January was 121 crore. Data maintained by the National Payments Corporation of India (NPCI) showed that an average of Rs 40,000-Rs 80,000 crore worth of UPI transactions are made in India on a daily basis.

Coming to NEFT and RTGS, the two other instruments for online payments, the average transactions made through these were an average of Rs 33.85 lakh crore and Rs 146 lakh crore, respectively, data showed. Coming to internet banking and mobile banking, transactions worth Rs 91.24 lakh crore and Rs 28.16 lakh crore, respectively, were made in January 2024.

The share of UPI in digital payments in India has reached close to 80 per cent in 2023, informed Reserve Bank of India (RBI) Governor Shaktikanta Das earlier this month, as he outlined the growth of the payments ecosystem in the country.

Retail digital payments in India have grown from 162 crore transactions in the financial year 2012-13 to over 14,726 crore transactions in 2023-24 (till February 2024) -- approximately a 90-fold increase over 12 years. —ANI

If Rahul performs well in IPL, reward will be T20 WC: Langer

NEW DELHI, 20 MARCH

If KL Rahul leads Lucknow Super Giants to their maiden IPL title, he will automatically be rewarded with a spot in the Indian team for the T20 World Cup, reckons head coach Justin Langer, who wants his team's national hopefuls to "concentrate" on doing well for the franchise first.

Rahul, who is coming back from a quadriceps injury and is not expected to keep wickets at the beginning of the IPL, is still not a certainty in the Indian T20 squad and only a good IPL with both the bat and gloves can seal the deal for him.

Asked how he would balance his skipper's ambition with the team's interests, Langer said it isn't all that complicated."If the team does well, everyone gets rewarded. If KL can captain LSG to the IPL title, that means he would have captained well, batted well, and kept wickets well," Langer replied to a PTI query during a season-opening media interaction on Wednesday.

Apart from Rahul, the other serious T20 World Cup contender from LSG is leg-spinner Ravi Bishnoi."The message for players, like KL or Bishi (Bishnoi) will be that the more they concentrate on playing well for LSG, their chances (of WT20 call-up) will increase."

Rahul is expected to link up with the team on Wednesday evening due to a flight delay but the former Australian opener didn't say a word about when the star player will start keeping."He has followed all the 'Return To Play' protocols and he has been hitting a lot of balls."

Bowling thin on experience but talent amazing With foreign recruits Mark Wood and David Willey ruled out of the tournament, Lucknow Super Giants' pace bowling unit looks thin on experience.Shivam Mavi, the injury-prone pacer, hasn't played competitive cricket since August 2023 while Delhi's talented tearaway quick Mayank Yadav was out of the entire Ranji Trophy season with a side strain.

Mohsin Khan, the find of the 2022 IPL, has had injury issues and Yash Thakur isn't very experienced at the tournament level."It is a very good observation that we lack some experience in the pace department but there is an enormous talent. The pacers -- they all look fit, healthy, and hungry. —PTI

RED BULL DRAMA

Verstappen huge favourite in Melbourne

NEW DELHI, 19 MARCH

Max Verstappen will be a heavy favorite to make it three wins from three this season as his Red Bull team attempts to put weeks of paddock intrigue behind them at the Australian Grand Prix.

The Dutch three-time world champion emphatically led home teammate Sergio Perez in Bahrain and Saudi Arabia, but the celebrations were overshadowed by team disunity and allegations against Christian Horner.

The long-serving Red Bull boss was cleared of inappropriate conduct involving a woman colleague ahead of the season-opener in Sakhir and tried to put a lid on the drama in Jeddah.

But the unnamed woman has appealed to Red Bull GmbH, the parent company of the all-conquering Formula One team.

She has also reportedly lodged an official complaint to Formula One's governing body the FIA, ensuring the saga will rumble on in Melbourne this weekend.

Horner has guided Red Bull to six constructors' and seven drivers' world championships since 2005, including the last three won by Verstappen. —AP

LONDON, 20 MARCH

Former Brazil international footballer Dani Alves is to be released from jail pending an appeal against his rape conviction in exchange for posting bail of one million euros ($1.08 million), a Barcelona court said Wednesday.

BOXING'S OLYMPIC FUTURE

IOC tells national federations to create new governing body

LAUSANNE,20 MARCH

The IOC has reiterated its threat to leave boxing out of the 2028 Los Angeles Olympics if national federations continue to align themselves with the suspended International Boxing Association (IBA), casting fresh doubts on the crisis-hit sport's future at the quadrennial showpiece.

The International Olympic Committee (IOC) had de-recognised the IBA in 2019 over long-standing financial, sports integrity, and governance issues. Boxing at the 2024 Paris Olympics is set to be overseen by the IOC.

It will be the second successive time, after the Tokyo Olympics, that the IBA will have no involvement in bouts at the mega-event.

Speaking at a press conference here on Tuesday following the IOC Executive Board meeting, IOC Sports Director Kit McConnell said boxing is still "on hold" for the 2028 Olympics.

"Following the decision by the IOC Session last year, the inclusion of boxing in the LA28 Olympic programme is on hold and not confirmed," McConnell said.

"If there is no boxing body supported and driven by the National Federations, we will not be in a position to include boxing in the Olympic programme," he added.

The IOC put the onus on the national federations to step away from the IBA, led by Russian Umar Kremlev, and create a new world governing body to secure boxing's future in the sport. Boxing has been a part of every Olympics since 1920.

The IOC has reiterated its threat to leave boxing out of the 2028 Los Angeles Olympics PHOTO: AP

"So it's now up to the National Federations to drive this change and to work to create a body that we can work in partnership with because we cannot move forward with this current situation," McConnell said.

- The IOC has reiterated its threat to leave boxing out of the 2028 Los Angeles Olympics if national federations continue to align themselves with the suspended International Boxing Association (IBA)

The Olympic qualifiers for the Paris Games are being organised under the authority of the Paris 2024 Boxing Unit (PBU), an ad-hoc panel created by the IOC Executive Board.

"The IOC EB made it clear, once again, that this must be the last time that such a process is undertaken by the IOC," McConnell added.

The IOC also reiterated that even if boxing is added to the 2028 Olympic programme, the IBA will not be involved in its organisation.

"The IOC Session in Mumbai in 2023 also made it clear that the IBA will not be involved in the organisation of the boxing tournament at LA28, should boxing be included in the sports programme," McConnell said.

It is to be noted that last year, a group of national federations, including those of the United States and Britain launched a new organisation -- World Boxing -- to secure the long-term future of the sport at the Olympic Games.

The governing body has been seeking recognition from the IOC to represent boxing in the Games.

The IBA subsequently suspended the national federations of Germany, New Zealand, Sweden and the Netherlands for their participation in what the world body called a "rogue" boxing organisation. —AP
